KINGSTON'S NEW 1,000 PUPIL SCHOOL—
Bids for the new 35-classroom school to be built on the south side of Old Fording Place Road in the vicinity of the Lake Katrine School, will go out this Spring, according to Harry Halverson of Harry Halverson & Associates, architects. The Board of Education at its December meeting voted unanimously to name the new school the M. Clifford Miller Junior High School in memory of the late school executive. The school will be built in one and two-story sections of masonry construction. Other features of the school building will be art and home economic departments, music rooms, industrial arts departments, library, gym and locker rooms, an auditorium with seating capacity of 600, cafeteria and usual administration offices. Miller was assistant to the superintendent of Kingston City Schools Consolidated and a widely recognized educator in this area for many years. Harry Halverson & Associates are the school architects.

Would Double Rocky's Figure

Report $134 Million Demo Aim for Schools

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Democratic leaders are contemplating a school-aid increase of up to $134 million a year, informed sources reported today as the Legislature returned to action. The figure is nearly double the increase being considered by Gov. Rockefeller and the Republican legislative leadership.

Organizing Today

Democratic demands for a larger outlay undoubtedly would set off a political tug-of-war over the budget that Rockefeller will submit to the Legislature next week.

Organization of committees was the major task confronting the Senate and Assembly, both of which scheduled mid-afternoon working sessions.

Nearly 2,000 bills awaited committee action.

Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia was reported Sunday night to have selected Albany Democrat Harvey M. Lisfet for appointment as chairman of the Assembly's powerful Ways and Means Committee.

Travia was said to be under heavy pressure, however, from the Bronx Democratic organization to give the assignment to Assemblyman Melville E. Abrams of the Bronx.

The speaker was expected to announce his decision today, or by Tuesday at the latest.

Braces for Transit Demands

Meanwhile, the Legislature was braced for demands that it take some kind of action to facilitate settlement of New York City's transit strike. Whether it could do so at this stage was subject to question.

Rockefeller triggered talk of a school-aid increase by remarks he made last Wednesday after delivering his annual "State of the State" message.

Depending upon available revenue, he said he was weighing the possibility of raising the state aid ceiling from the present $600 per pupil to $660.

This would cost $74 million in the school year beginning next September but would require only $34 million in the state's next fiscal year, beginning April 1.

The increase would be atop a $145 million boost already mandated by fixed formulas.

Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia commented that an increase to $660 was the least the state should do to help the public schools meet rising costs.

Exploring $726 Ceiling
Informed sources said Travia had instructed his fiscal aides to explore the possibility of raising the ceiling to $726 a year or pegging it permanently to the statewide average of per-pupil costs, now $675 a year.

An increase to $726 a year would cost $134 million in the next school year but only $67 million in the new budget. A

HAROLD C. KESSINGER

Speaker Named For Washington Dinner Feb. 23

An orator hailed as an ambassador of wit and common sense will be guest speaker at the 41st annual Washington Day dinner sponsored by the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church. He is Judge Harold Caldwell "Sam" Kessinger whose topic will be "The Four Lives of Man."

Tickets on Sale

Tickets go on sale today for the event to be held Wednesday, Feb. 23, at 6:30 p. m. in Bethany Hall of Old Dutch Church. Clair Sheaffer is general chairman with Richard Roth in charge of ticket distribution. John Johnson is club president.

The guest speaker will present his topic on the four points of the Past, the Present and the Might-Have Beens.

The Quaker judge was educated at Blackburn College, Northwestern University and the University of Chicago, earning his way through high school as a book salesman and college as the Boy Orator of Chautauqua, appearing on the platform with the country's leading lecturers.

Has Varied Career

During his varied career he has been editor, publisher, educator, bank president, world traveler and civic leader, as well as serving three terms as jurist in New Jersey.

Judge Kessinger has spoken in 49 states, Canada, Cuba, Mexico and England and has been the subject of a CBS television documentary, "An American Jester." He has received the acclaim of businessmen and civic leaders where ever he has appeared.

India, Pakis Agree To Withdraw Troops

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R. (AP)—The leaders of India and Pakistan agreed today to withdraw troops from along their inflamed frontier and work for "normal and peaceful" relations once more.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India and President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan sidestepped their quarrel over Kashmir and other major issues that have taken them to war twice in 17 years but signed a nine-point "Tashkent Declaration" aimed at lessening tension.

Congress Opens Second Session

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress returned to work today and braced for some hard billion-dollar decisions: How much to pump into the war in Viet Nam and how much to further President Johnson's "Great Society" program at home.

The second session of the 89th Congress opened at noon. The first day customarily is a short one and no departure from the tradition-marked route was expected.

Await Specifics

The President, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and several members of Congress began the day by attending services at the National Presbyterian church.

Congress has a pretty good idea what Johnson will ask this year, but specifics await his State of the Union message Wednesday night.

It is then that the legislators may have a better idea how the President's peace offensive is progressing, how much money he wants immediately to finance the war—and what effect all this will have on his domestic program.

The agenda today included the swearing in of new members—Harry F. Byrd Jr. in the Senate and Clarence Brown Jr. and Thomas M. Rees in the House.

Byrd Gets Two Posts

Byrd, a Virginia Democrat, is succeeding his father, Harry F. Byrd, who has resigned. Brown, an Ohio Republican, is succeeding his late father, Clarence Brown, and Rees is taking the seat of Rep. James Roosevelt, D-Calif., who resigned to join the U.S. delegation to the United Nations.

Before the Senate convened, the Democrats decided at a meeting to appoint the younger Byrd to two major committees, Armed Services and Aeronautical and Space Sciences, Sen.

Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., was awarded another plum, appointment to the Finance Committee lately headed by the elder Byrd.

There is some doubt that in (Continued on Page 14 Col. 6)

Marathon Session Fruitless

Recess Is Taken In Transit Talks

NEW YORK (AP)—Marathon negotiations to end the city's 10-day-old bus and subway strike recessed at City Hall just before dawn today, and the chief union bargainer said they had been "completely unproductive and meaningless."

Commuters Start Early

Even as the weary negotiators were leaving, the rumble of converging traffic was building in Manhattan's canyons. City officials said the commuting millions, with a weeks bitter experience behind them, had started earlier on this second week of the strike.

Mayor John V. Lindsay, who had summoned the parties to City Hall late Sunday, signaled the recess when he walked from the hall into freezing temperatures at 6:20 a.m., declaring: "The mediation panel has declared a recess."

He declined further comment, and indicated he would have a statement some time after noon.

Moments later, Lindsay was followed by Douglas L. MacMahon, heading the union bargaining team in the absence of the (Continued on Page 14 Col. 8)

Fortifications Demolished

Cong Ducks Kayo Punch Of Biggest U.S. Force

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The largest U.S. fighting force of the Vietnamese war demolished a honeycomb of Viet Cong fortifications on the edge of the Iron Triangle 25 miles northwest of Saigon today, but the Communists ducked the knockout punch.

Most of the guerrillas kept away from the U.S. and Australian troops as they scoured the Communist stronghold on the third day of Operation Crimp.

Uncover Weapons Cache

Australians operating with the 1st Infantry Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade uncovered a big weapons cache left by the fleeing Communists. The haul included 47 weapons, five of them crew-size, 114 grenades, 15,000 rounds of small-arms rounds, 100 pounds of dynamite, ammunition, 58 heavy-mortar rounds, 100 pounds of dynamite, 20 tons of rice and a large store of medical supplies.

There were more than 8,000 men in the Allied force, but U.S. military spokesmen reported only light contact with the enemy, a regiment-sized force thought to be holed up in the 12 square miles of jungle and marshland.

Vly Family Left Homeless After Fire in Trailer

A family of four was made homeless and lost all of their belongings Sunday morning, when fire that rekindled in their trailer home on Peak Road in the Vly-Aitwood fire district, swept through the structure.

The trailer home was owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard D. Carney and their two children, according to Fire Chief Victor Merritt.

Flash Fire

The chief said firemen from Vly-Aitwood were dispatched to the Carney home Saturday before 8 p. m., and firemen extinguished a "flash fire." At 6:30 a. m. Sunday, firemen received a call that fire had broken out in the trailer home, and on arrival firemen found flames sweeping through the trailer, Chief Merritt said.

Electric wires that had been doused by strong gale-like winds hampered firemen at the scene, but the chief said the hoses did not freeze. A nearby barn caught fire but was saved by the firefighters, who fought the flames in near zero weather.

Chief Merritt said the Carney family lost all of their belongings in the fire, and area residents over the weekend made donations of money and household furnishings to aid the family.

4 Killed In 2-Car Collision

Brothers, Wives Dead; Kingston Girl Also Hurt

Four Westchester County residents were among 13 persons who were killed in traffic accidents on New York State highways last weekend. The deaths of the two couples in a two-car crash near West Park boosted Ulster County's traffic death toll this month to six.

The multiple death fatality occurred on Route 9W about one mile north of the Lloyd-Esopus town line at West Park Sunday afternoon. The Associated Press reported a total of 20 accidental deaths in the state over the weekend, including the 13 killed in traffic mishaps, two drownings and five other types of accidents.

All From Bedford

The four victims of the county fatality, all related and residents of Bedford, had left their home Sunday afternoon to drive the son of one of the couple's to a Kingston bus terminal where he boarded a bus "t about 5 p. m. for Delhi, where he attends the Delhi Technical Institute.

Killed in the West Park crash, which occurred at 5:20 p. m. Sunday were:

Ignace Pietroski, 55, of Middle Patent Road, Bedford, owner and driver of one of the vehicles; his wife, Helen, 48, and Henry Pietroski, 37, same address, and his wife, Teresa, 37.

Teri Purvis Injured

The operator of the other car involved in the collision was Teri Purvis, 17, of 24 Catskill Avenue, city, who was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's ambulance. She suffered a fractured jaw, broken nose and lacerations of the face.

According to Trooper Thomas Searles, investigating state troopers reported the two Bedford couples rode to this city yesterday afternoon with Thomas Pietroski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignace Pietroski. The youth boarded a bus at the local terminal for Delhi shortly after 5 p. m., after waving goodbye to his parents and uncle and aunt.

Pry Open Doors

The Pietroskis and Pietroskis headed back for Bedford. They were traveling south, apparently in the northbound lane troopers said, when the vehicle was in collision with the car driven by (Continued on Page 14 Col. 4)

Withall Notes Responsibility Of School Board

Arthur W. Withall, president of the Kingston Board of Education in reply to a statement by Howard O. Rust, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation which criticized the board's plans to avoid a strike, today said:

"It is the responsibility of the Board of Education to operate the schools in this district. Threats of drastic action to be taken by the Federation in the event the board would not yield (Continued on Page 26 Col. 2)

Rust Hits Board Plans, Gives 'Fact Statement'

Howard Rust, president of the Kingston Teachers Federation, today charged that the board of education, "is planning for a strike that has not been called, instead of seeking reasonable grounds for negotiations."

Rust, who presented a petition at the regular meeting of the board last Thursday night calling for a representative election, today issued what he called a "Statement of Facts the Public Should Know." The text of the statement follows.

"The public should know some facts about the situation in our schools. First, we of the KTF have gathered from many sources in our schools the following evidence that plans are being made by the administration, presumably under the direction of the board of education, to use any method to break a strike, if it should occur:

Substitute teachers have been interviewed to determine whether or not they would be available for extended duty within a few weeks.

A so-called folder system is being instituted at the high school to facilitate the work of substitutes who may not be used to the assignments given. This is to be put into effect within the next few weeks.

Plans are being made for the showing of films in the high school auditorium if it is necessary. (Continued on Page 26 Col. 7)

START OF DIMES MARCH—The 1966 March of Dimes campaign slated for January was started this week with the signing of a proclamation by Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan. The mayor for a number of years served as treasurer of Ulster County Chapter of the March of Dimes. He was one of the founders of the local chapter, part of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, as it was known in 1938. The mayor said, "The great teamwork of our citizens with the volunteer march over the years provided the funds that paid for research culminating in the discovery of the Salk and Savin polio vaccines. May we have the same kind of victory over birth defects." At the signing ceremony at City Hall are (l-r) front, Mayor Garrahan and Kathleen Augustine, polio patient; standing, Alton Feistel, co-chairman of coin collections; Mrs. Patricia McConnell, Mothers March worker; Meyer Kaplan, chapter vice-chairman; Kingston Police Sgt. William F. Hanley, coin collection co-chairman; Mrs. Florence Crosby, Mothers March chairman and Attorney William A. Kelly, chapter chairman. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Higher Deficit Must Be In Budget—Garrahan

Mayor Raymond W. Garrahan, in a statement quoting a State Department of Audit and Control report, holds that a higher deficit must be listed in the 1966 city budget if proper procedure is used.

It is expected that the Common Council will meet during the week of Jan. 16 to consider a revised budget, possibly on Tuesday, Jan. 18. The recessed meeting is subject to the call of Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig.

The mayor's statement released today:

"The following paragraph is from Page 67, Department of Audit and Control in a report dated Dec. 31, 1964: "The budgetary practice has been to estimate, at the time the budget's estimates were prepared, the current year's deficit, and to provide for the estimated amount in the following year's budget. This procedure fails to provide for any deficit resulting from any prior year's operation as reflected in the surplus account. The failure to provide for the full amount of the prior year's deficit results in an unbalanced budget.

"The deficit figure in the budget submitted at the December, 1965 meeting amounted to $47,823.57.

"If the proper procedure had been used, the true deficit would be $129,076.08 and will have to be included in the budget being prepared. Also one week's em- (Continued on Page 26 Col. 7)

IMPACT OF EXPENSIVE MONEY

When the Federal Reserve Board in a recent decision increased the discount from four to five per cent, it set in motion investors.

Consider commercial banks for instance. On the day following this announcement, I made a visit to five of New York City's leading institutions: Morgan Guaranty Trust, Chase-Manhattan, First National City, Chemical-New York, and Manufacturers-Hanover.

At these banks, I asked a leading officer: "Has your institution increased rates on loans and discounts?" And, without exception, the answer was "yes." Now at the present time, these large banks have a total loan and discount account of over $27,000,000,000. A mark-up of one-half of one per cent will mean that the gross earnings of these institutions will be increased by around $130,000,000 a year.

By April, 1966, these added earnings will begin to show up in the profit account. Bank stocks, presently unpopular, should enjoy a price increase during 1966 and, if money rates continue firm, by the end of the year, bank stocks should be considerably higher than they were early in 1966.

Likewise, under the impact of more expensive money, bond prices have declined considerably. United States Treasury bonds are selling on the most favorable terms in 30 years. Yields to maturity of 4.7 and 4.8 per cent are available.

The Treasury four per cent bonds due in February, 1972 can be bought at around 96 cents on the dollar. The long-term four per cent bonds, due beginning with February, 1988, are available at about 93 cents on the dollar.

Translated into action, what do these figures mean? Well, all investors who can determine what their fixed-dollar requirements will be in the years ahead can contract to have dollars available at times when they are necessary.

To be specific, a young lady of 16 will be entering a college in the fall of 1967. She will be there four years. The cost of her education there will be around $15,000 to $20,000.

Her father is selling 100 shares of Xerox at $210 a share and, after setting aside capital gains taxes, he is buying $20,000 U. S. Treasury bonds due in 1967, 1968, 1969, and 1970—all at interesting discounts. Five thousand dollars of them will mature each year she is in college.

And an investor, 67, without a pension, who needs more income badly, has sold 100 shares of International Business Machines (a blue-chip) paying $600 a year in dividends for $52,500, and he has bought with this money 500 shares of Morgan Guaranty Trust that will pay him $2,000 in cash dividends and in addition occasional stock dividends.

Observant and competent investment advisers today are pointing out hundreds of changes in portfolios that will benefit their owners.

Dear Heloise:
To conserve water—whether in a water shortage area or just trying to save water in the average home—may I tell you and your readers how we in the Navy were taught to shower, using the least amount of water?

When bathing in the shower, turn on the water and wet the body. After wetting down, turn the water OFF, then put some soap on a wetted wash cloth, and bathe away.

Turn on the shower and rinse your soapy body. This method takes only about two gallons of water, whereas an ordinary shower uses seven or more gallons because the average person turns the shower on full blast.

An average tub bath uses about 10 gallons of water.

Thanks to the Navy for putting us wise to this idea of conserving.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
I have a wall phone in my kitchen—but very little space beside it for a bulletin board. I purchased a cork hot pad (approximately nine by 12 inches) for about 50c.

I applied four strips of double-stick tape to the back of the cork pad, then just pressed it onto the wall beside the phone. Map tacks are used to fasten notes to the board.

Marge Barnes

I took a bath towel that shrunk in the band (near each end, from being in a too hot dryer), and cut it in two. Because of the shrinkage, the band formed a perfect waistline, with the terry cloth gathered neatly below.

I trimmed off the toweling above the band (saved these pieces for polishing shoes), and hemmed the bottom (where the towel was cut in half), sewed a ribbon on the ends of the "waist-band," and . . .

Presto—two aprons and two shoe polishing cloths from an otherwise ruined towel.

For ready-to-bake cookies. I drop the dough onto cookie sheets and freeze them all unbaked.

After they are frozen, I remove them from the cookie sheet and store in a covered container in the freezer.

When I'm ready to bake cookies, I just take out as many or as few as I need, and I have cookies in a jiffy.

Dear Heloise:
You have stated in your column that one should never spin-dry the various "lons" and drip-drys. You are so right, as it sets the wrinkles.

And women who have wringer-type machines, should never run the "lons" or drip-drys through the wringer.

Instead take them out of the machine and rinse them by hand, dunking rather than squeezing.

Dear Heloise:
To wind a ball of yarn (from a skein), so that the yarn end comes from the center of the ball, and the ball will not roll around while knitting, use a plastic pill bottle about three inches long with a snap-on cover!

Place end of yarn in tube, snap cover on to hold yarn end in tube. Wind the yarn around the tube until quite fat, then wind into a round ball, keeping cap exposed. Tuck final end of yarn into the ball securely, remove cap from tube, and starting end of yarn may be pulled from the center.

When winding yarn from skein, if you encounter a knot in the yarn, place a different color yarn marker about a yard before the knot.

This is a sort of signal that a knot is ahead, and knitting can be gauged to place knot at nearest seam edge or other inconspicuous place.

Named to Group Screening for Academy Bids

Tom Waters, 2 Farrelly Street, Kingston, and Donald Downs, Kerhonkson, were today named by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D, 25th District) to a committee to screen and interview all applicants for congressional appointments from the 28th Congressional District to the U. S. Military Academies.

In appointing the committee of seven, Resnick said, "I believe that this innovation will remove the possibility of any political influence on Congressional appointments to the service academies. It will put the selection of appointees on a more equitable basis and students will be recommended solely on merit."

The Ellenville Congressman revealed that 40 applicants for the academy appointments have taken written examinations and will be interviewed by the committee in January. Appointments are made by Congressmen when vacancies occur through graduation or resignation, with no more than five at each of the service academies from a single congressional district.

No vacancies exist for 1966 at the U. S. Military and Naval Academies. Two appointments will be made to the U. S. Air Force Academy. Separate rules apply to the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy where Congressman Resnick will make 10 appointments from the district.

All appointees from the district currently enrolled in the academies were made by the previous congressman from this district, J. Ernest Wharton.

Other members of the committee are: Dutchess County, Mrs. Barry Jay Grandeau and William J. Walsh; Columbia County, Theodore Yuskio; Schoharie County, Keith Rockwell; and Greene County, John M. Panek.

When Julius Rosenberg of New Orleans, the nonplaying captain of North America's 1966 team for the world's championship, starts to pick his lineup for the various matches he will have a tough problem. In other years there was always a weak spot on the team. This year his three pairs are so good that he will have a time figuring which one to leave out.

Ira Rubin of New Jersey and Philip Feldman of New York who finished first in the trials are deadly in competitive situations. Lew Mathe and Bob Hamman of Los Angeles are sound in bidding and brilliant in their play of the cards.

This really representative North America team is completed by two Canadians, Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela of Toronto.

We will devote several articles to hands from the trials in which these pairs made the team and we will start with an ambitious slam bid by Murray and Kehela in their first match.

The key bid on the way was Eric Murray's jump to four spades. Kehela needed no further encouragement and merely used Blackwood to make sure that there were enough aces for six and not enough for seven.

Sammy won the second diamond with his king and led a spade toward dummy. When West produced the queen things looked really promising. Sammy ran off four rounds of trumps and cashed dummy's ace and king of clubs. When both opponents followed to the second club,

Thwart a Thief

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—A couple of railroad men used two walkie talkies and a diesel engine to thwart the theft of an auto.

Switchman Olden A. Ganus III saw his car being stolen and radioed an engineer. The engineer moved his diesel across a road and blocked the path of the auto. Ganus and the engineer then subdued the man in the car and Athens police took him into custody.

Income Forms Must Be Returned to VA Office

The Veterans Administration today warned veterans and dependents of deceased veterans on VA pension rolls they run the risk of having their monthly payments discontinued if they fail to return the income questionnaire forms mailed with the November checks.

They may even have to pay back the money received in 1965, the Veterans Administration said.

The questionnaires must be returned by January 31, 1966. The VA is required by law to obtain this income report each year because pensions are paid only to those whose incomes from other sources are below certain limits.

The Veterans Administration asks that the card not be folded or mutilated because it must run through automatic data processing machines.

Assistance and information may be obtained from the Veterans Administration office, 12-16 Russell Road, Albany.

Upstate Boy Drowned

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Thomas Reed, 8, drowned Friday when he fell through ice into the Raquette River near this community in the northern Adirondacks.

The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Reed, of the nearby hamlet of Hewittville.

State Police said the Reed boy and a companion were playing on the river when the ice gave way. The other boy was not injured.

DROP IN FOR REPAIRS

Weighted down by life's frustrations? Difficulty living within your budget? A drinking problem? Marital trouble?

If you have one of a hundred emotional problems, you could, if a plan proposed by the University of North Carolina were to be adopted nationwide, take them to a "shopping center" for treatment.

Just as a shopping center contains all the goods and services to meet a community's physical needs, the mental health "shopping center" would contain all the clinics and types of treatment necessary to meet its emotional needs.

Called a Comprehensive Mental Health Plan for North Carolina, the new approach would divide the state into 27 regions with a mental health center in each. Each center would be able to treat anything from simple frustration to suicidal tendencies, but its long-range aim would be to prevent mental health problems which can arise out of every social situation.

"Reliance upon the big, isolated mental hospital as the only mental resource is now a thing of the past," agrees Dr. Harvey L. Smith, professor of sociology at the university and head of the North Carolina Mental Health Council planning committee.

Rather than going to a hospital in a distant city, under the regional plan the delinquent, drop-out, alcoholic or aging person with an emotional problem would be treated in a center near his home.

Such a center as visualized would serve 75,000 to 200,000 persons, with full-time team composed of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers, co-operating with doctors, clergymen, teachers, policemen, court officials and other community officials.

DANGER OF GAS FUMES

At this time of year, motorists are faced with the peril of poisoning from carbon monoxide gas seeping into closed cars. In cold weather, people keep car windows closed which increases the possibility that fumes will seep into car interiors without being detected.

In recent years, such fumes have caused numerous accidents in this area. It takes but a small amount of gas fumes to cause a driver to become drowsy, thus setting the stage for serious accidents.

Car windows should be opened slightly at all times to let fresh air enter and gas seepage out. Having the motor vehicle's exhaust system checked for leakage is the first step to avert accidents.

HALFWAY TO 1984

The historian John Lukacs, author of "A History of the Cold War" and other works, has used an interesting springboard for a current article about developments in modern society. "We are now," he writes, "halfway to 1984. George Orwell, the author of '1984,' finished his book in 1948. That was 18 years ago, and it is not more than another 18 years before that ominous date rolls around."

Orwell's vision of a super-totalitarian future was so chilling, and has been so widely discussed, that almost everyone in the civilized world must have a general idea of what he foresaw. He portrayed a world society dominated by three mutually hostile great powers, constantly at war but with none able to win, whose rulers "have perfected brainwashing and thought-control to the point that the memories of entire generations, and hence their opinions about the past, have been eliminated."

As Lukacs points out, the trend of events has not wholly borne out Orwell's predictions. But it must be remembered that Orwell was a novelist rather than a political forecaster. It is his inner vision of a controlled society, not the outward specifics of

'These Days'

RED EFFRONTERY AT THE UN

The effrontery of Communists is a never-ending source of wonder. They say "white is black" and nobody contradicts them. They ask for peace and explode a mine under you while they are waiting for the answer. They are against war, but will fight at the drop of the word "liberation." And they do it all with a great sense of righteousness, secure in their Leninist belief that anything is "moral" that can help bring about the triumph of socialism.

The effrontery crops up in big things and little. Twenty years ago the Communists were happy to play a part in the birth of the UN. The Russians agreed to a set-up which included a Security Council and a General Assembly. One of the seats in the Security Council went to the government of Chiang Kai-shek. As a member of the Council, the Republic of China has the right to a veto. The government of Chiang Kai-shek, then, cannot legally be disregarded as a constituent member of the UN save by its own permission.

Do you think this bothers the Communists? Not if the behavior of Károly Csatorday, the Hungarian Communist who happens to be President of the First, or Political, Committee of the UN, is any criterion. Csatorday himself is an affable man who is willing to chat familiarly with his enemies, provided that the conversation does not touch on political matters. But as President of the UN Political Committee he plays fast and loose with protocol when it comes to recognizing the representatives of the Free Chinese.

Ordinarily, he is suave about his refusal to observe the rules of his own committee. He has had a habit of turning his chair over to a Latin American in order to be absent when it is the turn of a Taiwan Chinese delegate to be recognized. But the other day he evidently forgot that the Chinese Ambassador to the UN, Yu-chi Hsueh, was due to take the floor. Trapped by the necessity of recognizing the envoy from Taiwan, he switched to the Chinese language which he had learned as a Hungarian diplomat in Peking. What he said in Chinese was "Now I give the floor to Mr. Yu-chi Hsueh."

The intended insult was quickly noticed by the few people present who could understand Chinese. Said Ambassador Hsueh, speaking Chinese directly to Csatorday, "The manner in which you give me the floor is most regrettable. In what other capacity could I be admitted to the floor than as the Representative of the Republic of China? You are bringing a bilateral element into the meeting that is not impartial. What you have done is contrary to all the rules of procedure. You have betrayed the trust placed in you by the committee."

At that moment Csatorday let the retort pass. But after the session he moved heaven and earth to get the Ambassador's response expunged from the record. He did not succeed, possibly because the United States and Ethiopia, among other nations, insisted that the Taiwan Ambassador was in the right in taking exception to Csatorday's misuse of an important UN office.

All of this could be dismissed as a tempest in a teapot if it were not part of a calculated campaign of favoritism to their own representatives on the part of Communists in positions of authority in the UN. Even the United States has suffered discrimination, as when Csatorday skipped over an American representative's prior right to the floor in order to give the Soviet Russian Ambassador the first shot at a disarmament speech. Csatorday tried to explain that the Russian had made his application to him personally ahead of the American, but had neglected to go through channels about it.

In spite of the effrontery, Csatorday has told friends that he hopes to become President of the UN General Assembly when it is the turn of the East European bloc to fill the post. The word for this is "chutzpah," and it can carry a man a long way in a world filled with mice. (Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE WELL CHILD

Imperfect Vision Plagues Many Preschool Children

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Few people realize that 25 per cent of children of preschool age have imperfect vision. Often this is correctable when it is discovered early but, since the preschool child has no way of knowing what his vision should be, he cannot tell you he needs help.

The National Society for the Prevention of Blindness therefore urges all parents to have tests made of their children's vision before they are three years old. Even the child who appears to have excellent vision may be seeing with only one eye. Because the brain of the cross-eyed child receives a double image he learns to ignore one image and concentrate on the other. This weakens the vision in the eye supplying the ignored image—a condition called lazy-eye blindness.

But crossed eyes are not the only cause of a double image. Refractive errors and muscle imbalance not severe enough to cause crossed eyes are others. Unless the condition is treated in the first few years of life it cannot be remedied.

Some clues to poor vision in your preschool child are squinting, scowling, blinking, frequent stumbling, reaching for an object and missing it, lack of interest in distant objects, rubbing the eyes, holding a picture book too close and looking at things with one eye closed or the head tilted.

It is a mistake, however, in the absence of any of these signs to assume that your child has good binocular vision.

Most slight defects discovered at an early age can be corrected by exercises designed to strengthen the weak eye, mainly by the use of prisms or by covering the stronger eye a large part of each day.

Q—Is leukemia a childhood disease? What are the usual symptoms?

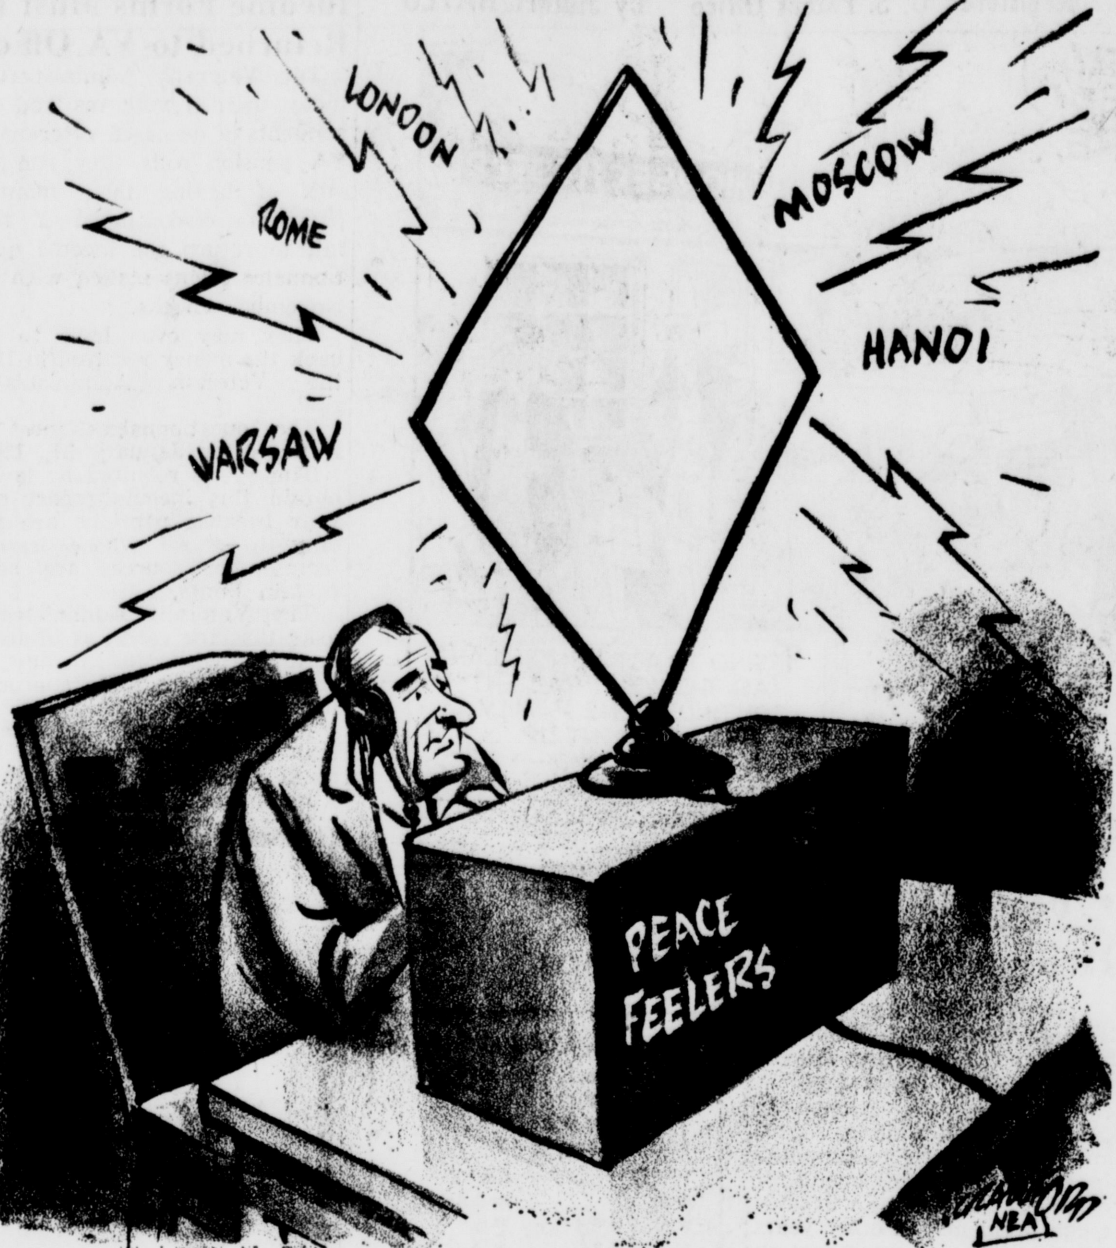

A—Leukemia can occur at any age. Acute leukemia is especially frequent in children under five and is rare in persons over 25 but chronic leukemia is seen most often in persons who are over 25.

The symptoms vary but, in the acute form, enlargement of the lymph nodes, hemorrhages, sore throat and black-and-blue spots appearing without any bruising are frequently seen. In the chronic form the onset is gradual, with weakness, shortness of breath on exertion, pallor and loss of weight. In any case the diagnosis is made by examining a blood smear. This would reveal abnormal white corpuscles in great numbers.

how he thought such a society might emerge, that is important.

Lukacs sees disturbing indications that Orwell was essentially right. Says he: "Now, halfway to 1984, with all of the recent advances of civil rights, with all of the recent juridical extensions of constitutional freedoms, we are facing the erosion of privacy, of property and—yes—even of liberty." This judgment will mean different things to different people. The vital thing is that it be thought about, and discussed, with the idea of averting the trend to erosion of individual liberty if such a trend does exist.

The United States started the New Year with a big peace offensive. The Reds contented themselves with just remaining offensive.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Only Michigan's Gov. George Romney and Richard M. Nixon are being taken seriously by Republican leaders today as 1968 GOP presidential prospects. And only they are likely to be.

If Charles Percy should win Sen. Paul Douglas' seat in Illinois and Ronald Reagan capture the California governorship from Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, their names almost certainly would be thrown into the 1968 lists. But discussions with GOP professionals do not suggest they would have a real chance.

As for the rest, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York is considered to have a 1972 presidential speculation; Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield, due to run for the Senate this year, still is shrugged off in important party quarters, and other young, attractive Republican figures are not even mentioned.

Publicly, the professionals will keep on saying that it is too early to talk presidency, that the party must focus on 1966 races. In fact, they know the 1968 race is already narrowed to Romney and Nixon, with almost no likelihood that 1966 will raise up a bright new figure.

IN 1965 ROMNEY ROAMED the nation and the world, trying to enlarge his image as both a good party man and a knowledgeable man of world affairs. In 1966 he will have to stick to his Michigan knitting, since his first priority task is to run up a big re-election vote in November.

Even though Romney often says things which have a strong conservative ring, it is widely assumed he will have to go the 1968 presidential primary route and win—to gain the allegiance of the many conservative convention delegates he would need for nomination.

This poses another problem for him. Romney will need a fairly formidable primary opponent.

Victories by default will do him little good, as the late Sen. Estes Kefauver learned in 1952. By providing opposition in 1960 primaries, Vice President Hubert Humphrey was, unwittingly, one of the late John F. Kennedy's most vital allies.

From Romney's viewpoint, possibly the best thing that could happen would be a Reagan victory in California and a militant conservative campaign that would thrust Reagan into several primaries against him.

Without that, it is difficult to see where real primary opposition could come from. Few party leaders believe that Nixon wants to take that path.

NIXON'S PROBLEMS, INDEED, are perhaps even more taxing than Romney's. Again, a broad presumption among top party men is that Nixon probably can count upon heavy delegate support in many nonprimary states where delegates are picked in state conventions.

It is expected that such support will be particularly strong in the 11 Old South states, giving Nixon the same kind of traditional conservative base which the late Robert A. Taft and Barry Goldwater relied upon in earlier years.

Nixon has eagerly cultivated backing from the moment Goldwater was nominated in 1964. There is no question he is presently the overwhelming choice of Goldwaterites and some other conservatives.

But Nixon, in his carefully calculated doing of "party good works," also has tried to woo the moderates who were inevitably in his pocket in 1960. His 1966-68 dilemma is how to get them while becoming the conservatives' darling.

PROFESSIONALS CONSIDER the primary route dangerous for him. To oppose Romney would be to polarize him more sharply as the conservatives' man. Such a direct Romney-Nixon confrontation might produce the bloodiest party battles since the Eisenhower-Taft warfare of 1952. And there is no assurance that Nixon, a familiar face with a loser's tag, would come out well.

His best hope would seem to be to depend on delegates chosen in convention and pray that Romney will stumble badly somewhere along the primary route.

Yet that course, too, involves great risk for Nixon. In 1960, Lyndon B. Johnson, rich in southern and western delegates, and Stuart Symington, loaded with "second choice" promises, watched John Kennedy for the stumble that never came.

DUCK KEY, Fla.—Jim Sullivan spends his mourning period here. He is a short, fiftish block of wood with snow white hair, pinball eyes and a mahogany nose. His wife, Milly, died a few months ago, and Sullivan is no crier. He is permanently hurt, but he cannot show grief or love.

Once, when he owned a saloon in Sea Bright, N. J., a bartender died and Sullivan put on a collar and a tie to go to the wake, and the best he could say to the widow was: "Walter looks better now than when he worked for me."

Years before, he lost his wife. A year later, he went on retreat for her, and brought his new girl friend along. He is thoughtful, in an uncomplicated way. When he was a little boy in Holyoke, Mass., he won a violin selling newspapers. He played it once, and his father said kindly: "Go out and bury that thing in the back yard before I wrap it around your head."

Now he is at Bonafish Lodge, at Key Colony, with two Chinese pugs: J. B. and Pudgy. He refers to them as "the children." Sullivan sleeps on one bed; J. B. sleeps on the other. Pudgy, who is nine-years-old, sleeps in a basket. The little one has a cold, so Sullivan feeds her a little whiskey and sugar and now she doesn't care where she sleeps.

The dogs look like Siamese cats with corkscrew tails. In the morning he feeds them, talks to them in ractrack patois, and goes off in his little fiberglass speedboat. It has two engines, and Jim uses one. The boat runs between the Florida keys, hitting every third wave, like a flying fish.

Kelly kept saying "Poor Jim." So we came down to see him, because he is an old friend, even though he sold the saloon and lives rich. "Not much action around here," he said. "I shot a couple of racks of pool at the local parlor and beat the trade out of $9, so they call me a hustler." Kelly suggested that he drop a few games. "Nothing doing," he said. "I'd rather give it up."

He said he'd give us J. B.'s bed, but we came up to Duck Key and got one at the Sheraton Indies, a place where Chinese dogs are barred. We went fishing with Sullivan. We boated a dozen and a half while drifting. Somebody dug some canals around Duck Key and Kelly dropped a line and came up with a big grouper.

Sullivan wants to wean Pudgy off her cough syrup, so she stands, like a pound and a half baked potato, barking in front of the refrigerator. She does it best when Sully is resting. He cooks for himself and the dogs and prides himself in this because he was a Navy cook in World War II. He worked for a while in the sonar.

In the Caribbean, they heard a ping and the officer rang general quarters and the crew shot the hell out of sandy cliff off the port bow. After the war, he was a waiter in Boca Raton and 5,000 vegetable growers had a convention. They all wanted

Compulsory Unionization Safeguards Are Stipulated

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Organized labor throughout the country has just received the worst black eye it has experienced in a half century. This comes as a consequence of the colossal damage inflicted by union leaders in New York City's transit strike.

Nobody has ever dreamed that, short of a rebellion to overthrow the established government, any organized group of citizens in the United States would be able by acts of their leaders to defy a city and state government and do it all under the theoretical "right to strike."

Criticism is coming from far and wide. As the New York Herald Tribune put it on Sunday, there is "no absolute right to strike." The editorial says in part:

"A strike may be barred by specific statute, as strikes by government employees are barred in New York State. A strike may jeopardize the community, the nation itself. A strike may be called to effect a political purpose — to usurp, as the transit union has done, the right to make political decisions which are vested in elected officials and legislatures. Such strikes go out of the sphere of legitimate pressures to effect legitimate economic ends and become assertions of the right to revolution. And against such assertions the community has the right and duty to protect itself."

Congress is to convene this week, and no issue is more in need of prompt legislative action than the protection of private property against wanton attack by the extremists who abuse the "right to strike." Unfortunately, most of the labor leaders of the country have remained silent. Instead of speaking out against an improper use of union power, they have exhibited a strange indifference that is being interpreted generally as acquiescence in what has happened in New York City in the last week.

The AFL-CIO, which is a kind of trade association of labor unions, has no authority over the operations of its member unions and is largely a lobbying organization which at the moment is still demanding that Congress repeal what is known as the "right to work" law. This enables the states at present to decide for themselves whether they wish to allow contracts to be made between employers and unions compelling workers to join a union or lose their jobs. Opposition to the repeal is widespread, but labor leaders have felt confident that a majority in Congress would go along with the concept of compulsory unionization.

The time has come, however, to let the measure be thoroughly debated and comprehensively amended. If, for instance, compulsory unionization is to be permitted, here are some of the safeguards that should be stipulated by law:

1. No man shall be fired from his job if, after joining a union, he is dissatisfied with its operations and wishes to resign.

2. No union leader should be permitted to negotiate in a collective-bargaining conference unless a detailed outline of the demands has been approved beforehand by secret vote of the members.

3. Every counter-proposal of management, together with a statement of its position, should be made immediately available to all union members so that they can by secret ballot, vote to accept or reject it.

4. Any union whose members are employed by Federal or state or city governments should be forbidden to strike and, if a strike is authorized by vote of the members, the latter as well as the leaders must be made subject to fines and other penalties in the event that existing law is disobeyed. Law suits on this point should be permitted to be filed either by dissenting union members or by citizens whose property is damaged or by governmental agencies.

There are many well-organized and efficiency operated unions, and these have the least trouble with management. But the big unions lately have become as influential as if they themselves constituted a political party. These unions are subject to dictatorship. The average union members, including the transit workers in New York City, for example, probably do not approve of much of what the leaders do, but they are helpless to exert their will. Often they are not too well informed as to what is being done in their name.

Unions are necessary to large industries particularly, but the union members as well as the public are entitled to protection by law against misbehavior, arrogance and extremism by union leaders.

Quick Quiz

Q—Are the Great Lakes part of the United States?

A—Only Lake Michigan is completely inside the United States; the other four are shared with Canada.

Q—Where is the rainiest place in the world?

A—Mt. Waialeale, Hawaii, on the island of Kauai, with an average annual rainfall of 471.68 inches.

Q—How did the expression "to eat humble pie" originate?

A—It dates back to the Middle Ages, when royalty dined on the best foods and servants were left with "skin, head and umbles," these last being the animal's innards, which were made into "umble pie."

Q—In the roster of American presidents, now is Grover Cleveland numerically listed?

A—As he served two non-consecutive terms, he is referred to by most authorities as the 22nd and the 24th president.

Q—What does the expression "distaff side" mean?

A—The female branch (maternal line) of a family. The expression stems from the time when women spun thread from a distaff, a staff for holding bunches of wool or flax.

Q—Of what commercial value is the wood of the Joshua tree?

A—It is so light and tough it is used for artificial limbs.

Q—How much of the earth's surface is covered by the sea?

A—More than 70 per cent — 139,705,000 square miles.

150th Anniversary Of Savings Banks

The nation's 506 mutual savings banks began observing the 150th anniversary of mutual savings banking in the United States this month. The first mutual savings bank in the United States was founded in Philadelphia and Boston in 1816, just six years after the world's first savings bank was organized in Ruthwell Village, Dumfriesshire, Scotland.

Dr. Grover W. Ensley, executive vice president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, said that the 150th anniversary observance will continue throughout the year. "We expect the observance will be at one of its high points in May," Dr. Ensley said, "when the first International Savings Banks Congress ever to be held in the United States will meet in New York City, May 1-5, followed ten days later by the industry's annual conference in Philadelphia, May 16-18."

Dr. Ensley said that the 150th anniversary observance program, developed and coordinated by NAMSAB, is designed primarily to bring public recognition for mutual savings banking's long record of financial strength and service to people in the communities they serve, and that member banks are being provided with materials designed to draw maximum attention to this record.

Dr. Ensley called attention to the fact that the mutual savings banking industry began 1966 with total assets of $58 billion and total deposits of $52.5 billion in 22,200,000 savings accounts.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — State approval is all that's needed to put into operation a dental insurance plan.

Dr. A.B. Coxwell, executive secretary of the Kentucky Dental Association, said the dentists will contract to provide services and treatment to families who have joined the Kentucky Dental Service Corp., through group plans with employers or worker groups.

The anaconda, largest snake in the Americas, regularly kills and eats caymans, which are South American crocodiles of the Amazon region.

NO QUARREL: This expression originated in thirteenth century England. It came about from the custom of giving a pound of bacon to any married person who could kneel before the church door and swear that he had not had a family quarrel in the past twelve months.

Would Leave 2 Parties

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — To apply the "one-man, one-vote" edict to the selection of a political committee would "result in eliminating all but the two major parties in this state," says a State Supreme Court Justice in Albany.

Justice John Pennock made that ruling Friday in a case brought by Monroe R. Davis of Woodbridge. Davis is a member of the Sullivan County Democratic Committee.

Davis had asked that the rules of the county committee be declared unconstitutional and be replaced by a system of weighted voting. In the meantime, Davis asked that members be selected on the basis of the U.S. Supreme Court's "one-man, one-vote" principle.

In his decision, Pennock wrote that to apply this principle to a political committee would "result in eliminating all but two major parties in this state."

The Supreme Court's ruling was aimed at insuring more equal apportionment of state and local legislative bodies.

See Disadvantage To Buffalo With Dem Apport Plan

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A Democratic-sponsored plan for legislative reapportionment divides Buffalo along clear racial, ethnic and economic lines, a Buffalo Area Chamber of Commerce official contends.

"By preserving hard neighborhood and ethnic lines," the proposed districts would prevent the mixing and modification of viewpoints essential to "modern government," Charles F. Light, Chamber vice president said Saturday during a public hearing on the plan.

Others Defend Proposal

Light was the only one at the hearing who thought this arrangement presented a disadvantage. Several other witnesses defended the proposed new districts.

The hearing was conducted by the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment.

The plan was drawn by an Advisory Council comprised of six college political scientists who were appointed by Democratic legislative leaders.

The Council plan would provide 57 senators and 150 assemblymen for a Legislature, compared to the present 63 senators and 165 assemblymen.

The state government must come up with a plan by Feb. 1 or face the prospect of having the Supreme Court draw its own reapportionment plan.

In answer to Light's criticism, Arthur W. MacMahon, one of the educators responsible for the plan, said the "principles of compactness and contiguity almost inherently required respect for neighborhoods."

Stanley Franczyk, legislative assistant to the Buffalo Common Council, said "significantly, the four Assembly districts proposed for the City of Buffalo recognize the need for fair ethnic representation."

Virtual Assurance
The west-side of the city, with its heavy Italian-American population, is virtually assured an assemblyman of Italian lineage, he added.

"The same applies to the core of our city, with its growing Negro population; the south side, and its substantial electorate of Irish-Americans, and the east side, with its Polish-American community..."

"They will be spared the grief so often inherent in previous boundaries which, in many instances, created conflicting situations and attitudes," Franczyk said.

The hearing marked the third held by the committee. The other two were held in Albany and New York City.

Health for All

Now at last the verdict can be called final. Not only final but a matter of history. And not only history, but law.

On Jan. 1 the Federal statute known as the Cigarette Labeling Act went into effect. Every package of cigarettes must now bear a printed message: "Caution: Cigarette Smoking May Be Hazardous to Your Health." This law, passed by both Houses of Congress and signed by the President, obviously expresses their combined opinion that the smoking of cigarettes can harm the smoker.

Does anybody else agree? Practically everybody: the U. S. Public Health Service, the National Tuberculosis Association, the American Thoracic Society, the American Heart Association, the American Cancer Society, the American Public Health Association, the American School Health Association, and about a dozen other public and private health agencies have gone on record emphatically as believing that there is a link between cigarette smoking and certain diseases of the lungs and other organs.

Then why get excited? Don't they repeat what most of us already know? Answer: they do a lot more.

Those nine little words of warning on every package of cigarettes, placed there by order of the nation's highest legislative and executive authority, are a visible symbol of the cigarette threat and its seriousness. Protection of the public against specific products that may be harmful is the normal job of executive departments of the Government, not Congress. When Congress takes it on as a special case, you can be sure it's important.

Whether you are a confirmed smoker, a beginner, or some one who's thinking about starting, your Christmas Seal organization suggests: Next time that "Hazardous-to-Your-Health" label meets your eye, think of the things suffered by all the people whose case histories finally helped bring about the Cigarette Labeling Act.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association Inc., 124 Green Street, Kingston.

Eastman to Contribute $6 Million to Fund

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Eastman Kodak Co. has agreed to contribute $6 million to the University of Rochester's $35 million capital fund campaign.

W. Allen Wallis, university president, said Sunday that $3.4 million of the grant will be allocated for modernization and expansion of teaching and research facilities of the School of Medicine and Dentistry.

He said the remaining $2.6 million will be unrestricted funds for other educational facilities.

Humphrey Sees No Immediate Break in War

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — President Johnson's "peace offensive" in Viet Nam "to my knowledge" has not borne any fruit, Vice President Hubert Humphrey says.

The vice president said he could foresee no immediate breakthrough in the war there, despite the President's peace moves.

Humphrey made the remarks during his visit here Saturday to speak at a dinner marking the local observance of the Millennium of Christianity of the Polish People.

The explaining of this country's peaceful motives in the various world capitals "has had a great effect throughout the world," the vice president added.

Making of a ton of charcoal takes 2.2 cords of hardwood, preferably oak, beech, birch, hickory or maple.

Chief of Hudson Authority Asks For More Power

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)

—M. Frederik Smith, chairman of the advisory committee to the Hudson River Valley Commission, urges that the Legislature give the commission more power.

Smith, of New York, said the commission should be given responsibility for the entire river basin, which extends through the Adirondacks.

The group, which was set up last March by Gov. Rockefeller, is responsible for preservation of the Hudson River in a two-mile wide corridor from the southern end of the Adirondacks to New York Harbor.

At a hearing here Saturday, Assemblyman Clark Wemple of Schenectady also said the commission's powers should include the Mohawk River Valley.

Spokesmen for conservationist groups asked the commission to ban construction of three proposed dams on the upper reaches of the Hudson, saying the dams would spoil the historic waterway and adjacent forest preserves.

Weekend News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mike Mansfield, the Senate's Democratic leader, and four of his colleagues, talked to top men in Western and Communist nations and spent some time in Viet Nam.

Their report, generally described as gloomy, was published Saturday.

Could Escalate

If peace efforts fail, they said, the fighting will escalate toward "general war on the Asian mainland." They also held that as the war escalates, North Viet Nam becomes more dependent on Red China with the result that Hanoi likely will be unable to negotiate a settlement without at least the tacit approval of Peking.

Early Saturday, just hours after the Mansfield report, came disclosure of massive American bombing of routes in Laos used by Communists to provide the Viet Cong with men and supplies.

Saturday also brought the first reports on the opening of the biggest offensive in Viet Nam by U.S. troops. Six American battalions — about 8,000 men — and one Australian battalion moved against the Communists' Iron Triangle northwest of Saigon. By Sunday, the fringes of the triangle were pierced but U.S. spokesmen reported only light contact with the enemy.

The force, however, did find a system of Viet Cong tunnels likened by spokesmen to the New York subway system. The enemy catacombs, just 25 miles north of Saigon, must have taken years to build.

There were enough holes in the ground to house a division. The drive was unique in that no Vietnamese troops were included in the force and the Vietnamese high command was not told of the operation until the last minute.

Nothing Affirmative

The many-bronged campaign to bring North Viet Nam to a peace conference table has brought no affirmative response from Hanoi.

Pope Paul VI underscored Saturday his continuing appeals for an end to the conflict by offering to go "beyond usual protocol." He also asked diplomats gathered in Vatican City to present their new year's greetings to the pontiff, to urge their governments to seek an end to the fighting.

The latest crisis in Santo Domingo eased somewhat when the Dominican armed forces agreed to surrender control of the government radio station to the Organization of American States. The station was seized Thursday night to protest the order of President Garcia-Go-doy's government sending top military officers abroad for diplomatic service or training.

Marathon Session

The Communist government of Poland announced a ban on travel abroad by Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński just 17 hours before his scheduled departure for Vatican City. The Roman Catholic prelate was charged with harming Polish national interests on a recent visit to Rome.

Throughout the week New York City and its millions were gripped by a paralyzing transit strike that halted subways and buses. Expressways and streets were clogged with cars. Side-walks were crowded.

Then came Friday night and the end of the work week for most of the metropolis' millions. They rested and hoped for an end to the walkout.

But despite marathon media-tion sessions the strike contin-ued.

Dittus Elected Again by Rapids, Dance Set 15th

John H. Dittus Jr., was re-elected president of Rapid Hose Co., No. 1, at the annual meeting Thursday night at the fire company rooms, 87 Hone Street.

Others elected were Commissioner Henry Boice, vice president; Donald Hammersley, recording secretary; Robert Dittus, financial secretary; Gerard Kelder Sr., treasurer, and Gerard Pardee, trustee to 1969. The other two members of the board of trustees are Charles Coutant to 1967 and Martin Kelly to 1968.

Others Named
Line officers named were John Reinhardt, foreman; Robert Hinkley, first assistant; Charles Baxter, second assistant. The Rev. John H. Frenssen, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone Street, was appointed chaplain of the company.

President Dittus was elected delegate to the New York State Volunteer Firemen's Association; Gerard Pardee, delegate to Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association; William Dederick and Joseph Valle, representatives to Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association;

Charles Coutant, representative to Kingston Fire Fund Association (Coutant is now president of this group); Reinhardt, Hinkley, Baxter, Darryl Lang, Walter Boltz and Donald Hammersley, representatives to Kingston Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association. Appointed to finance committee were Henry Krenz, Woodrow Diehl and Gerard Pardee.

Commissioner Henry Boice, a member of the company, was extended congratulations and best wishes on his recent election as president of the Board of Fire Commissioners of the Kingston Fire Department.

The annual dinner and dance of the company will be held at the Capri 400 Restaurant, Port Ewen, Saturday, Jan. 15 at 7 p.m. William Dederick, chairman of the banquet committee reported arrangements were complete and that Martin Kelly and his orchestra will play for dancing.

Ticket reservations should be made not later than Tuesday night, Jan. 11. Other members of the committee are Walter Boltz and Martin Kelly. All members of the company, Ladies Auxiliary and friends are invited to attend.

Data Processing Group to Hear Automation Talk

James L. LePorte Jr. will discuss "Automation at the Chase Manhattan Bank" Tuesday 7:15 p.m. at the meeting of Hudson Valley Chapter of the Data Processing Management Association at the Red Door Inn, Route 44, east of Poughkeepsie.

LePorte, Systems Planning Officer of Chase Manhattan Bank, New York City, will talk about the bank's approach to automation and describe some of its computer applications. The guest speaker also will describe how the bank evaluates and selects computer equipment, and what the banking firm plans for the future.

LePorte, who has been with Chase Manhattan for several years, has been a member of the New York Chapter of Data Processing Management Association since 1958.

Peking-Moscow Rift Mounting Over Cuba Issue

By BEN F. MEYER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist world found itself embroiled today in a new and bitter dispute which could have far-reaching repercussions.

The new controversy centers around a charge by Communist China that Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro lied in saying Peking refused to carry out a plan to barter rice for Cuban sugar.

But deeper than a trade dispute is the real cause of the controversy — the Peking-Moscow struggle for leadership of the Communist world and the timing of the current disagreement.

One immediate effect of the Peking-Havana quarrel could be an internal struggle at the three-continent "solidarity" conference now under way in Havana. Some said it might produce a walkout of Red China's delegation which has found the conference heavily weighted in favor of the Soviet line. Moscow bolsters Castro's regime with economic and military aid estimated at $1 million a day.

The timing of the dispute is significant. It was begun by Castro on the eve of the Asia-Africa-Latin American meeting. He announced that his government and Red China found themselves in disagreement on a plan under which China would send rice to Cuba in exchange for sugar.

The Peking government's action has caused a cut from six to three pounds per month in the ration of rice in Cuba, where rice is a major staple of the diet.

Now the Peking government has issued a blistering statement about Castro's declaration. Stripped of its diplomatic niceties, Peking says in effect:

1. Castro is a liar.
2. Castro violated the norms of international good manners in speaking out publicly about negotiations then under way, particularly since Cuba has an official mission now in Peking to present his viewpoint.
3. Castro's timing in attacking a sister nation on the eve of the Havana conference gives broad reasons to suspect the sincerity of his motives.

Observers here are watching the new controversy closely. They wonder if North Viet Nam's Hanoi regime will be able to keep on playing it cozy with both Moscow and Peking as Castro tried to do. A high-level Soviet delegation is now in Hanoi talking things over with government leaders.

Service Restored After Derailment

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Service has been restored on the tracks of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad after a five-car derailment about 1½ miles northeast of here.

No one was reported injured Sunday when five coal-laden cars of a 27-car Erie-Lackawanna freight train derailed.

The derailment was caused by a broken truck frame on one of the overturned cars, state police said.

Traffic over the tracks was delayed for about seven hours, a railroad spokesman said.

The train was enroute to Buffalo from Hornell with 15 cars loaded and the remainder empty.

Wiring Is Blamed For Buffalo Area Fire

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Defective wiring was blamed for a $70,000 fire Sunday in a two-story frame structure housing a restaurant and an apartment in suburban Cheektowaga.

The cause and damage estimate were listed by Fire Chief James D. Siller, who said no one was reported injured.

The restaurant was operated by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dukat, who occupied the second-floor apartment.

The building is at 2835 Broadway.

Mother of Five Children Slain, Three Men Held

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Three men were in Onondaga County jail today on first-degree murder charges in the beating-death of a 34-year-old mother of five children.

William E. Buffington, 27, and his brother, Jackie Lee, 24, both of Syracuse, and Manuel Johnson, 24, of suburban Nedrow, stood mute Sunday at their arraignment before Peace Justice George Kimball of the Town of DeWitt.

Kimball committed the three to jail without bail and ordered the case adjourned until Jan. 17. They are accused in the slaying of Mrs. Beverly I. Abreau of suburban Mattydale, whose nude body was found Friday in a shallow creek near the hamlet of Jamesville.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Edward Gerber alleged that the three men and Mrs. Abreau argued after a drinking party and that the men took her to a lonely spot near the creek and beat her.

She was not raped, Gerber said. The three were arrested late Saturday in an apartment house here.

Mrs. Abreau's husband, James, a truck-driver, was located by police in Marlboro, Mass., and returned to identify the body.

Her children ranged in age from 2 to 14 years.

Three Injured In Freak Mishap

COHOCTON, N.Y. (AP) — Earl Dunn, 66, was asleep on a couch in the living room of his home early Sunday when a heavy tractor-trailer truck came through the window and pushed the couch across the room.

Dunn and two occupants of the truck, William Duncan, 35, of Brantford, Ont., the driver, and William McDiarmid, 35, of Fort Erie, Ont., were hospitalized, but their injuries were not considered serious.

Police said the flat-bed truck, carrying another truck cab, knocked down three utility poles, a tree and an ornamental water pump and climbed a four-foot bank before crashing through a picture window on the side of the two-story, frame house.

The accident happened on Route 15 at the southern edge of this Steuben County community.

'Head Start' for N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller reported today that he had approved a $6,448,845 federal grant to finance operations of the "Head Start" program in New York City.

Under the program, 46 agencies in the city will conduct classes for pre-school aged children, to help them get a head start on their education.

Rockefeller said he had notified the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity of his approval.

State Teachers Group Hits Hard For Retirement

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Teachers Retirement System and its investment practices were under fire today from the State Teachers Association, which called for a "broad and comprehensive review."

The association said it would ask Gov. Rockefeller to include the retirement system in a study already authorized for the State Employees Retirement System.

The association's board of directors said Saturday that a recent report by the State Insurance Department "does not strike us as an adequate and satisfactory analysis of the system's financial condition and operations."

That report had suggested setting up a committee of experts to assist the system's investment practices, which handle the pension funds of public-school teachers in the state.

casualties were light, they said. About 240 miles north of Saigon, U.S. 1st Cavalry Division troops swooped down on a Communist rest area 40 miles west of Pleiku and destroyed four abandoned camps. U.S. military authorities disclosed. The operation began six days ago, and the troops moved to within 100 feet of the Cambodian border without running into opposition.

Elsewhere on the ground, U.S. spokesmen reported few contacts with the enemy. But the air war in the South continued unabated with 281 strike missions against Viet Cong targets by Air Force and carrier planes. Four U.S. planes were lost in the past 24 hours.

A Marine F4B Phantom jet crashed 15 miles southwest of Da Nang because of undetermined causes. The two crewmen bailed out and were picked up by helicopter. One man was wounded.

A C123 transport carrying fuel caught fire Sunday night after landing at Tay Ninh, 55 miles northwest of Saigon. The crew escaped unhurt but the plane was destroyed.

GI Mail Saved

Another cargo plane, a C130 Hercules, crashed while landing on a mail run Sunday to An Khe, 260 miles northeast of Saigon. The crewmen were uninjured and the soldiers' mail was saved. A single-seat Air Force plane crashed 5 miles north of Saigon. As a helicopter lifted out the pilot by his gun belt, it broke and he plunged into a river. Apparently he was killed.

Spokesmen confirmed that ground fire had been responsible for two explosions that ripped apart a C130 loaded with 11,000 pounds of ammunition on a flight to Pleiku last Friday. Five men were killed in the crash of the four-engine plane.

The suspension of bombing raids on the Communist North came into the 18th day. Some of the tunnels and caves blasted by the U.S. and Australian troops in Operation Crimp dated back to the French Indochina fighting.

Although the huge Allied force pushed to the Saigon River boundary of the Communist Iron Triangle redoubt, it did not cross the river and attempt to sweep the triangle itself.

Swarm in Like Locust

Two hundred helicopters lifted the troops into action at dawn Saturday, swarming like locusts over the jungle in the biggest display of whirlybirds of the war. Hidden Communist runners knocked down two helicopters and mechanical trouble caused a third to crash.

Participating in the operation were units of the 1st Infantry Division, paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade and the Royal Australian Regiment. They were backed by 3,000 artillerymen manning cannon up to 175 mm in size, heavy tanks, a cover of U. S. Air Force and Navy jets.

To prevent the Communists from learning of the mammoth drive, U.S. officials kept word of it from the Vietnamese high command until the last minute. No government troops were used.

The operation pushed into the background other fighting over the weekend in the hit-and-run war.

However, troops of South Korea's Tiger Division killed 2 Viet Cong Sunday as they continued to mop up in a campaign 270 miles northeast of Saigon, near the coastal city of Qui Nhon, a Korean military spokesman reported. He said a total of 185 Communists had been killed and 600 suspects detained while Korean casualties had been light.

Some 500 Communists attacked a bridge at Tan Khai, in Binh Long Province 40 miles north of Saigon, with unusual ferocity just before dawn Sunday, catching a company of South Vietnamese defenders by surprise.

The government troops held off the attack for several hours. Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Marine Corps commandant, ended a three-day visit to Marine installations. He told newsmen at Da Nang that the Marines, who now have 43,000 men in Viet Nam, have no intention of calling up reserves now but want to bring the Marine Corps Reserve "to the highest state of readiness."

SCRAMBLE OVER VIET NAM—Increased use of air power in Viet Nam has caught the United States with its warplanes down. To fill the gap until a new model called the FX is ready by 1970-71, the search is under way for an interim fighter. It will be a modification of one or more existing planes to fill the specialized requirements of the Viet Nam fighting. Leading contenders are the F-5 "Freedom Fighter," developed as a small and simple fighter for NATO allies, and the Navy's all-weather A-6 and subsonic A-7. Others are the Navy's workhorse A-4 and deadly F-4 Phantom and the Air Force's 1,400-m.p.h. F-104 Starfighter. One result of this new need has been a cutback in planned production of the TFX, or F-111, shown in upper-right corner. The all-service F-111, whose wings fold or extend in flight, is under development in bomber and reconnaissance versions as well as land-based and carrier-based fighter models.

SA Provides Bus Service During Transit Dispute

Brigadier Jacob Hohn, commanding officer of the local Salvation Army, announces that Salvation Army facilities in Greater New York and surrounding areas have been mobilized to help meet the transit emergency.

At the request of the Mayor's Office, The Salvation Army in Greater New York, under the command of Colonel William E. Chamberlain, is providing bus transportation for workers of St. Vincent's Hospital, at each shift change. A bus from the Eastern Pennsylvania and Delaware Division was brought to New York for the duration of the emergency to supplement smaller buses and station wagons used to transport the hospital personnel. The bus and other vehicles have until reinforcements came, a government spokesman reported. A platoon was knocked out of action but casualties were light.

The Communist stronghold known as the Iron Triangle has been a repeated target for U.S. 52 stratofortresses from Guam. The two shorter legs of the triangle are formed by the Saigon and Thi Tinh rivers, while Viet Cong-dominated provincial Route 7 guards the northern approach.

In one zone where the assault helicopters set down, the troops found every building in the area and a field of unharvested rice ablaze from air strikes that preceded them.

A few sniper shots cracked as the troops approached a long-abandoned plantation. As they fanned out across the plantation, the soldiers found a labyrinth of tunnels and trenches intact despite the big bombs of the B52s.

The few dwellings and rice huts that remained standing after the air strikes were set afire by American troops.

Gen. Wallace M. Greene, Marine Corps commandant, ended a three-day visit to Marine installations. He told newsmen at Da Nang that the Marines, who now have 43,000 men in Viet Nam, have no intention of calling up reserves now but want to bring the Marine Corps Reserve "to the highest state of readiness."

been on continuous duty in this service since Monday afternoon. Cadets from the Army's School for Officers Training, the Bronx, are serving as drivers for the station wagons and buses.

Two additional buses, supplied by the New Jersey Division, have been loaned to the City of New York for its use in transporting workers for Bellevue and Harlem Hospitals.

At the request of the City's Department of Hospitals, stranded hospital workers of Metropolitan, Ewing and Lincoln Hospitals are also being provided transportation.

The Army's immense Loewenstein feeding unit was brought

Driver Is Booked; Another Car Damaged

A driver was booked on a charge after a two-car mishap at Main Street and Washington Avenue Saturday and a Sunday report noted a car damaged by a hit-and-run driver on Janet Street.

James W. Scully, 54, of RD 2, Box 253-A, Kingston, was charged with driving while intoxicated after the Saturday accident. Police said his car swerved into one driven by Kenneth Griffin, 34, of Alda Drive, St. Remy.

Scully pleaded guilty today in city court and was fined $50 plus revocation of his license. Officers Ernest Bartoff and Booth Pendell investigated the mishap reported at 4:05 p.m.

A report at 10:19 p.m. Sunday said the car of Walter Winchell, of 27 Janet Street, had been struck and damaged while parked on that street by a vehicle and its driver continued on without checking or reporting the mishap.

Begin Delivery of 2,000 Sentry Dogs to Viet Nam

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. airlines have begun delivering 2,000 sentry dogs needed by the armed forces to help guard American military bases in Viet Nam and elsewhere.

The effectiveness of the dogs — both in searching out the enemy and protecting against attack — led to a recent Defense Department decision to double the dog recruiting quota placed at 1,000 last September.

10 Delivered

The Air Transport Association reported today that many of the dogs are being delivered overseas one or two at a time. Recently a jet freighter carried 19 on one flight.

Use of air shipment is preferred, officials said, to avoid loss of weight that sometimes occurs during longer trips. Trainers say it is impossible to restore dogs that have lost weight to prime physical condition.

The Air Force recruits dogs needed by the various services and trains them at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. There the dogs must pass a physical and go through eight weeks of basic training — just like any other recruit.

A number of dogs also are flown to Ft. Benning, Ga., for special Army training as scouts to accompany night patrols.

Mounties to Expand

OTTAWA (AP) — The Royal Canadian Mounted Police plan a $15 million expansion program, says Solicitor General Larry Pennell.

Pennell said the program, to be completed within five years, calls for expanded communications facilities, use of a computer and an increase in training courses in identification work.

tied on the German shepherd for this duty because of its aggressiveness, size, strength — and most of all, its intelligence.

Experts say the German Shepherd has the IQ of a 7-year-old child and the ability to learn 100 commands. The animal also has a bite of 700 pounds per square inch of pressure, enough to rip off a man's arm.

Dogs acceptable for military duty must not weigh less than 60 pounds and stand at least 24 inches at the shoulder.

Domestic airlines fly the dogs in special containers to the training centers and later to ports of entry, where international carriers pick them up for delivery overseas.

Trainers travel with the dogs that have been assigned to them. The dog is fed only by his trainer.

In Viet Nam, officials said, the dogs are proving to be highly effective in protecting human sentries from ambush and in flushing out the hidden enemy during patrols.

"The hundreds of sentry and scout dogs now in Southeast Asia have helped greatly to protect American lives and to prevent sabotage," one spokesman said.

The Defense Department said more dogs are needed and urged the public to help by selling or giving healthy German shepherds to the services. Local Air Force recruiting offices can be contacted for more information.

See Big Change In George Murphy As U. S. Senator

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The spring is still in his step and he still has the Irish good looks, but a year has brought an immense change in George Murphy.

No more the dancer-actor nor the film executive, Murphy today is beginning his second year as the junior senator from California. Before departing for the start of the second session of the 89th Congress, Murphy took some rare repose in his local office to discuss his new life.

Sweeps Into Suite

Sen. Murphy breezed into his suite in the new Federal Building looking distinguished in a well-tailored gray suit with vest. Sitting with his back to the Los Angeles Civic Center, he commented on the first session of the 89th.

"It was pretty hectic," he said. "Everything had the mark of urgency on it, and we were too rushed. Once I discovered a bill that didn't have a number on it. Even I knew there was something wrong about that."

"I agree with Mike Mansfield that the coming session will be more of a process of refining what has already been passed. I think that's a necessary step, and I have proposed a Senate bureau of investigation to discover what has happened to legislation after it has been passed."

The California Republican said that he hasn't become integrated into the Washington social scene.

Wife Can't Travel

"I live in a hotel and my wife stays at our Beverly Hills home because she can't travel," he remarked. "But I'm here a great deal of the time — at least every two weeks. I don't believe you can legislate for the state of California without being in California and knowing about the problems."

"It's hard work, but I don't mind. I've been working since I was 15, and I'm used to it. Each day brings new challenges. It's an exciting and a gratifying life."

Dear Abby . . .

A Real Snowball!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A colonel suggested that a service wife with a grievance against her husband would get quicker results by writing directly to her husband's Commanding Officer rather than to her Congressman.

I am a retired Army major, and hear this: One lady, whose philandering husband ran my operations section, wrote to me with her complaints. I called the sergeant in and we had a little chat. Then I sat down and wrote the wife the usual letter: "I have discussed the matter with your husband, et cetera, et cetera, et cetera." Well, it seems this gal was singularly unimpressed with my "et ceteras," so she unlimbered her typewriter and gave out with an encore. She wrote not only to her Congressman, but to BOTH her senators, AND to the Chief of Staff, AND to the Adjutant General, AND to the Chief of Chaplains, AND to the Secretary of State, AND the Secretary of Defense. And to top it off, she wrote to the PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES AND MRS. EISENHOWER!

Abby, you should have seen the fan mail I got from Washington! Those who lived through it still speak in awed whispers of the "Great July Blizzard of 1954." But that was one Operations Sergeant who really got straightened out in a hurry. Sincerely,
"HONEST AL" IN ROANOKE, VA.
MAJOR, USAR (RETIRED)

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 years old and in our house we have this rule: Nobody can accept a telephone call during supper time. Well, I have told this to all my friends, but this one girl, no matter how many times I tell her, always calls me during the supper hour and I have to say, "I'll call you back later," but she says, "I just want to say this one little thing," and she goes right on talking, and then I get into trouble. I have even tried hanging up on her, but she calls back. My family would never just let the phone ring, so this puts me in a very awkward and embarrassing position. Please help me.

B. G.
DEAR B. G.: Don't answer the telephone during mealtime, and if she calls, ask whoever answers the phone to say that you are having your supper and cannot leave the table.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me why people will not make reservations for dinners at civic clubs and church dinners? Then they show up at the last minute, sometimes bringing a guest or two. They seem to think that "one or two more" won't matter, but if you have to feed 25 or 30 more than you planned on, it makes a whale of a lot of difference. I would like to have the hat they think we pull our food out of.

NO MAGICIAN
DEAR NO: Those who do not make reservations should show up anyway are divided (like Gaul) into three parts: the lazy, the thoughtless and the disorganized.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SMARTEST GIRL IN THE CLASS," BUT NOT LIKED IN WILKES BARRE, PA.: Never seems wiser or more learned than the people you are with. (That advice was given by Lord Chesterfield in 1748, and it's still good for people of all ages.)

Aldrich Will Talk To Kiwanis Club

Alexander Aldrich, president of Olan Preservation, Inc., will be guest speaker at the January 13 meeting of the Kingston Kiwanis Club to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel at 12:15 p.m.

Olan, is the former estate of the famed 19th century artist Frederick Church. The unusual mansion is situated on the east bank of the Hudson River just south of the Columbia County city of Hudson. Frederick Church was a leading member of the "Hudson Valley School" of painters, and is known for his highly detailed landscapes.

Olan Preservation, is a non-profit organization formed to save Olan and Church's valuable art collection from indiscriminate liquidation. The goal of the non-profit corporation, is to raise funds by which the house, its contents and the grounds may purchase and converted into a permanent museum and park.

Aldrich, a resident of Chatham Center in Columbia County is executive assistant to Governor Rockefeller and is a man of diversified civic interests. He is a member of the Board of Trustees at Marist College in Poughkeepsie, Chairman of the Mid-Hudson Institute for Citizenship Education and a leader in the movement to create a community college for Greene and Columbia counties.

Probe Malone Blaze

MALONE, N.Y. (AP) — Fire investigators sought to determine today the cause of a fire that wrecked a building housing four businesses and two apartments and caused damage estimated at $50,000.

No one was injured in the fire Sunday on East Main Street, near the Salmon River bridge.

Fire companies from five communities fought the flames in near-zero weather. Fire officials made the loss estimate.

Senate Report Gives Picture Of Viet Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate report on the war in Viet Nam gives this account of manpower on both sides there:

Government of Viet Nam — 635,000 men under arms, about 300,000 of them regular troops of the army, navy, air force and marines. The others are regional constabulary forces, lightly armed popular forces, irregulars and national police.

United States — approximately 180,000 troops.
Republic of Korea—about 21,000 soldiers and marines.
Australia—an infantry battalion and artillery battery, totaling some 1,200 men.

New Zealand — an artillery battery of about 150 men.

Total Viet Cong strength—an estimated 230,000 men.

The report gave this breakdown:

Viet Cong "main force soldiers"—59,000.
Peoples army of North Viet Nam—14,000.

Militia—100,000.
Support troops—17,000.

Political cadres—40,000.

The report said the Viet Cong, through recruitment in the South and infiltration from the Communist North, are believed capable of substantially increasing their numbers in a short period of time.

Baptists to Discuss Sex

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Clergy and lay leaders of the Southern Baptist church will attend two conferences this summer to discuss the Christian interpretation of sex.

The meetings—Aug. 11-17 in Glorieta, N.M., and Aug. 25-31 at Ridgecrest, N.C.—are the first called by the Southern Baptists to deal with sex.

Report Received Here of Area Pollution Study

Dr. Vernon B. Link, commissioner of Health of Ulster County, announced today receipt of the formal report on the Mid-Hudson Cooperative Air Pollution Study. This report has been accepted by the Air Pollution Control Board as the base for public hearings.

The material was prepared by the New York State Department of Health's Bureau of Air Pollution Control from information collected by local health units in Columbia, Dutchess, Rockland, Ulster and Greene Counties.

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors provided funds for participation in the study and survey required by law before Rules and Regulations could be adopted and has shown an active interest in the progress of the work.

The report recommends area classification for air quality based on Ambient Air Quality Objectives set by the Air Pollution Control Board. Subject to public hearings to be scheduled the board will now be able to enact Rules and Regulations covering discharges to the atmosphere. These rules will be aimed at accomplishing the objective finally adopted.

Dr. Link emphasized that the work authorized by the Supervisors and carried out by local health people advanced the dates for possible regulation as the laws are now written, by five or ten years based on the original state wide priorities.

Copies of the report have been sent to all local supervisors and mayors.

One reason the Black Sea is so-called is that heavy fogs make its waters look dark during winter.

It is not true that the mongoose is immune to snake poison, nor does it seek and eat a herbal remedy if bitten. The mongoose avoids the snake's fangs by its amazing agility in dodging when the snake strikes. It attacks and kills the poisonous snake by darting upon the head of the snake and cracking its skull with a powerful bite. A mongoose is easily tamed and makes a good pet.

Lensmen Record All Areas Of Viet Nam Action in '65

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The war in Viet Nam grew rapidly in 1965 and this growth was recorded in many memorable pictures on the side of the Vietnamese government.

Cameramen from many nations went into combat with U.S., Vietnamese, Korean, Australian and New Zealand troops to picture the victories and defeats, the horror and sorrow and the rare moments of humor and cheer.

But the world got only glimpses, usually colored in propaganda of the war as seen through the eyes of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese. Communist photographers did, however, record their side. Most of the pictures were never released for worldwide viewing, but they were given wide distribution throughout Viet Nam. They presented a special view designed to show only a favorable record.

Capture of a series of these pictures gives the Western world a look at the enemy in Viet Nam as he sees himself. The pictures were seized by a unit of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division which stormed into a Viet Cong encampment about 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

All Photos Identified

Despite water stains and dirt, the pictures are of good quality. All carried caption lines, some extensive. Many had an identification stamp that said: "National Liberation Front Information—Saigon, 'Cholon, Gia Dinh."

Gia Dinh is the province that surrounds the capital. Cholon is the Chinese quarter of Saigon.

The stamp itself could hardly be challenged for the Viet Cong have demonstrated an ability to operate in and near the city.

Shows Cong Rifleman

One shot, said to have been taken within Gia Dinh Province, shows Viet Cong riflemen removing parts from a wrecked vehicle the caption described as an amphibious tank. Actually the vehicle was an armored personnel carrier, a type knocked out frequently by Viet Cong now well armed with recoilless rifles.

There are rarely seen views of Viet Cong medical treatment of Communist soldiers wounded in action. One shows a wounded guerrilla with a bandage around his head and blood on his face and uniform.

A woman kneels beside him, giving him a drink of water from an American-type canteen cup, while another Viet Cong holds him up.

Other pictures show destroyed outposts and hamlets, pieces of crashed helicopters, Communist troops marching or lined up in formation.

Pictures have been captured in the past from the Viet Cong, some showing Viet Cong units drilling and training.

The pictures seized by the 101st Division paratroopers, however, give a wider view of the fighting as seen by the Communist side, a view that appears aimed in part at least at showing the nearness of Viet Cong strength to the nation's capital.

Schuyler GOPers Hit Dem Apport Plan

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)

— A Democratic plan for reapportioning the Legislature would slice Schuyler County into three parts and cause it to lose its identity, two Schuyler County Republican leaders charge.

The Democratic plan would have three different assemblymen representing one county, Mrs. Marguerite Geltman, county GOP chairman, and Maurice Dean, county vice chairman and sheriff, said Saturday in a joint statement.

The county currently is contained in the one Assembly District, the 11st, which also includes Yates and Ontario Counties.

Radioactivity was discovered by the French scientist, Henri Becquerel, in 1896.

286 Fair Street KINGSTON, NEW YORK 628 Broadway

DO YOU REMEMBER By Sophie Miller

With the fee for auto license going up in New York State there is much talk about taxes in general. Years ago, we had trolley cars which were a nickle and took men and women back and forth to work from early in the morning until late at night. Most of the stores and business concerns and factories were within walking distance of either one of the trolley lines.

Today that is all changed in Kingston and elsewhere. To go back and forth to work, one must travel many miles, either in one's own car or be a rider in someone else's car. When several people work in the same family, it is often necessary to have a car for each working person, because of the difference in working hours and the location. Many commute to different cities.

Perhaps in time some financial arrangement will be made for those who must commute long distances to work. Many of the advertisements state "Must have your own transportation". A car is no longer a luxury, except perhaps for the rich, but for the poor working class, it is a necessity. Winter it is still more difficult, when it takes time and effort to get the car on the road, and in bad driving conditions.

Perhaps the powers that be will see into the future, how important transportation really is to the working classes. Somehow the poor working class is the forgotten class, and that goes for the little taxpayers, and those who live on a small set pension.

I see in the 1911-12 Kingston City Directory, there were some dozen auto dealers and "repairers" listed in the book. There were two automobile manufacturers: William H. Kolts (body) on Foxhall Avenue, Wyckoff Church and Partridge Inc., 85 Grand Street.

In 1911 there was the Eagle Garage at 10 Main Street. The Empire Garage, 248 Clinton Avenue; Kelder's Garage was at 269 Fair Street, Orren Kennedy was at 748 Broadway. William Kolts is listed at Foxhall Avenue. William H. Nock was at 37 St. James Street. The Rondout Garage (repairers), was at Abeel near Hunter Street. Snyder Bros. was at 269 Fair Street. The Stuyvesant Garage, A. H. Chambers, prop., was at 223 Wall Street. John Van Benschoten was at 664 Broadway.

In the advertising pages, I see Henry Kelder and Co., features lively and exchange stables, with a fine picture of a horse. His place at 269 Fair Street also listed as The Garage Kelder, automobiles repaired, stored, etc., supplies and renting. You could also rent "the best appointed livery in the city. Stylish, turnouts and careful drivers."

On one page there are three garages listed, the Stuyvesant, formerly Wall Street Garage, centrally located near to Stuyvesant and Eagle Hotels. Automobiles could be stored, cleaned and repaired. They sold the Stoddard-Dayton, Brush and Sampson. "Tourists a specialty." They had day and night service, and had gasoline, lubricants and supplies, vulcanizing and had the two telephones then in Kingston.

Malcolm E. Parrott was manager of the Kingston branch of the John Van Benschoten, and had the Chalmers, Thomas, Stevens-Duryea and Mitchell and Peerless. The Empire Garage run by DeVall and Kennedy had the Maxwell Agency on Clinton Avenue. Those were the days of Sunday drivers, when only the head of the house was on the road. No doubt there was polite silence, when father started the car, and no one dared to offer suggestions as to how the family car should be driven. A 20 mile ride on Sunday was something to talk about for the rest of the week, at supper. Respect and dignity was the order of the day, in the house, in the school room and on the street. As a rule the family car was put in storage for the winter.

Kuehn Is Elected To Insurance Club

William H. Kuehn of Mutual Insurers Agency, Inc., local independent insurance agent, has been elected to membership in the President's Club of Kemper Insurance, he was informed today by N. C. Flanagan, chairman of the Chicago-based group of insurance companies.

High standards of performance are set for the agents who qualify for the club, with particular emphasis on the insurance service and counseling given policyholders. Members are also encouraged to participate in community affairs, especially in projects which further the cause of fire and highway safety.

Kuehn received word of his appointment in a letter from Chairman Flanagan, quoting from a plaque which he will be awarded and which commends his agency for having "contributed substantially to the growth and reputation of the company by a high level of professional performance."

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has started 1966 with a bang when it easily could have been a whimper.

Neither the steel price war and its compromise, the Viet Nam peace offensive, nor the subway strike that tied New York City transportation in knots could stay stock price averages from climbing to new highs.

Trading Volume Gains

Nor could the foreshortened hours of trading because of the strike keep sales volume in the 24½-hour first week of 1966 from topping the volume in the 27½-hour week that ended 1965.

Traders apparently saw more opportunities for business to gain than to lose from the government - steel confrontation, although many business executives were less confident of that. Stock buyers seem to be counting more on inflation and rising industrial activity and govern-crippling subway and bus strike in stride by concentrating heavier buying into the four hours of trading on Thursday and Friday.

When the New York Stock Exchange closed the week's trading at 2 p.m. January 7, the popular averages told the story. The Dow-Jones index of 30 industrial stocks closed at 986.13, up 16.87 from the 969.26 December 31 — a record high at the time. Optimists pointed out that the index was only some 14 points away from the 1,000 mark that would be a landmark of sorts.

Stock at Record High

The AP index of 30 industrials also hit a new high of 531.9, and its index of 60 stocks was at a record high of 364.1.

More surprising to many than the market's ability to shrug off government - business squabbles and potential peace moves was the rise in trading volume. The shorter 1966 week saw 38,728,054 shares changing hands against ment spending than on any possibility of higher taxes or government controls.

Take Strike in Stride

Brokers say most traders tended to discount the chances of the various U.S. diplomatic missions setting off peace talks. Stock traders also took the the 35,164,470 in the last week of 1965.

Brokers differ as to the reasons for the optimism in the stock market.

Many take heart in the reports that the federal government may forgo tax increases on either business or individuals and finance the higher government spending by selling securities or by collecting more revenue from rising incomes, or by both.

Stock traders are noted for changing their minds fast. But in the first week of the new year, at least, most of them still were bullish.

Glancing Over Color TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens when the family television set converts to color? It may be old stuff to you, but color television is brand new at our house. Santa Claus lost his head and brought a 21-inch on the easy view-now, pay-later plan.

The idea wasn't entirely Santa's. Pressure had been building up for months as color antennae sprouted on rooftops all over the neighborhood. Comments were dropped: "Gee, wouldn't this show be beautiful in color!" As weeks went by, the comments grew less casual and more determined.

Those prime movers of the American economy — the teenagers — brought the issue to a Christmas climax. It is something of a fad to meet at the home of a color-set owner and watch "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." on Friday night or the Saturday night movie. How are you going to keep the kids at home? Buy a color television.

What has happened is that we watch television more.

Remember those cro-Magnon days of television when you were fascinated by anything, even test patterns? That's the way it is with color. We focus on color, any color. Even commercials.

Suddenly commercials are interesting. The ear is still repelled, but the eye is delighted by the varied hues. Especially good are the gleaming new cars speeding along the landscape and the merlot cigarette ads or turquoise bays. Color seems so suited to selling that it seems odd to view a commercial for the yellow pages in black and white.

You suddenly see why "Bo-

Ex-GI, Defector In Korean War, 'Looking for Job'

FORT ANN, N.Y. (AP)—Morris Wills, who for 12 years turned his back on his country, now is home and seeking a job with which to support his Chinese wife and their 18-month-old daughter.

His 68-year-old father, William Wills, said his son had arrived a week ago and had gone to Boston "to look for a job."

The 32-year-old Wills was one of 21 U.S. soldiers who chose to stay in Red China at the conclusion of the Korean War.

Wills' homecoming to this village of 3,000, northeast of Glens Falls, was quiet and apparently went unnoticed here.

"We're all happy as bugs in a rug," said the elder Wills Saturday. But, added the retired farmer and county road worker, "Other than that, I've got no comment."

Wills arrived in New York City Nov. 4, accompanied by his wife, Li Kai-yen, and daughter, Pei Fang. They crossed the Communist China border into Hong Kong Oct. 19. The former private first class reportedly was graduated from the People's University in Peking and worked in a foreign language publishing house. Wills has said little, telling newsmen he planned to write and sell his story.

To Be Arraigned On Murder Charge

Charged with the New Year's Day slaying of a former Poughkeepsie taxicab driver, Willis H. Gillard, 31, of Elizabeth, N. J., was scheduled for arraignment today in Dutchess County Court.

Gillard is accused of shooting Herbert Anderson, 49, shortly after he alighted from a New York Central Railroad west-bound train at the Poughkeepsie depot. Police took Gillard into custody at the scene.

James R. Brown, Poughkeepsie attorney, said he would represent the defendant at the first degree murder trial. Police said there was no indication the two men had met before the day of the shooting.

Patrolman Leaps Into Icy Waters To Save Aged Man

A courageous Newburgh patrolman Sunday night, leaped into the icy waters of the Hudson River off Renwick Street in that city and rescued 78-year-old Eugene Terwilliger, who had been reported missing from a Milton home for the aged.

Police said a man walking his dog near the river at about 8:50 p. m. yesterday, heard a man shouting from the river. He notified police headquarters and Patrolmen David Birdsall and Fred Reider were dispatched to investigate.

The officers saw a man later identified as Terwilliger about 50 feet from shore in the icy river. Their pleas for him to swim to shore went unheeded and they saw the elderly man head out into the river.

Patrolman Birdsall removed his winter coat and shoes and leaped into the river. After several minutes he reached Terwilliger and brought him to shore. The rescued man was rushed to St. Luke's Hospital where he was treated for exposure and admitted for observation.

Birdsall also received treatment for exposure. Police said Terwilliger apparently went in the river a short time before he was discovered.

Early contact lenses for the eyeball were made of glass but, after 1938, plastic lenses came into use.

LET HIM OUT, LET HIM OUT—Reinhart Abrahamson, 79, couldn't wait to get out of smoky room in which he was trapped by fire at Pendleton, Ore. When firemen put up ladder, he came down this way. He was treated for smoke inhalation. (AP Wire-photo)

Man Is Seized After Tip, Two Breaks Probed

Local police booked a downtown man Sunday night for an alleged burglary attempt at the West End Brewing Co. warehouse (Utica Club) 12 Chambers Street, and today continued probe of a burglary at the Sunray Factory Outlet, 83 Smith Avenue, and an apparent attempt at Avella's Tavern, 179 Abeel Street.

A reported tipoff to police Sunday night led to the arrest of Vidal "Chico" Gutierrez, 35, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue, on a charge dealing with an attempt to commit the crime of third degree burglary.

City court hearing was today put over to Tuesday and Attorney Marshall Lipton was assigned to represent him. Bail, fixed at $500 cash or $1,000 property was not posted and he was returned to jail.

His arrest followed a report at 6:55 p. m. to police headquarters by someone who said he had heard glass breaking in the area. Sgt. Julius Glassman, Detective William Slover and officers Richard Scherer, Duncan Greene and Anthony Turk were dispatched there. The arrest was by Turk.

The warehouse had been entered several times within past months, and twice within recent weeks. Several cases of beer were reported missing after the recent burglaries. In each theft entrance was reported gained through a side window. Entrance to Sunray Outlet was reported made by the breaking of a window in the stockroom area of the building. Whoever entered the building was unable to get into the store section.

1,000 Attend Hospital Fete

Approximately 1,000 persons attended the official opening of Kingston Hospital's new $1,696,000 wing Sunday afternoon.

Open house tours of the new six level addition were conducted between 2 and 4 p. m. The ground level houses school of nursing classroom facilities; main floor, administration area, gift shop and snack bar; first floor, 30-bed chronic case unit; second floor, 24-bed pediatric unit and 10-bed teenage section. Third and fourth floors are unfinished areas for future expansion.

Mrs. Carl Pitcock was in charge of volunteers who conducted the tours. Candy Strippers provided baby sitting service.

A reception with refreshments was held in the library. Among those attending were Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

tion. It was undetermined up to early this afternoon whether anything had been removed from the stockroom.

A report Sunday noted the apparent attempt to enter Avella's Tavern, Abeel Street, through a rear window.

Police recently arrested Joseph L. Kiernan, 19, who, they said, has no home. He was booked first on a charge of unlawful intrusion after he had allegedly entered a vacant Maple Street building, and was later charged with third degree burglary. Police claim the latter involves theft of copper tubing from a vacant house at 5 Wurts Street.

Weekend Fare Fails to Convince

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It would be a pleasure to be able to report that the weekend shows were a joy — that Sammy Davis' premiere program was a smash, that Jackie Gleason's pocket musical was inventive and tuneful, and that "The World of the Teen-ager" illuminated a problem.

It would be a pleasure but it wouldn't be quite true.

Taking first things first, there was NBC's "Sammy Davis Jr. Show" Friday night. The producers thought of almost everything — dramatic and colorful sets, attractive musical arrangements, Sammy serving up samples of the things he does well. There was even the extraordinary sight of Elizabeth and Richard Burton singing a slightly off-key duet.

Apparently, however, they overlooked the need for word-smiths. Davis was given the dullest sort of lines, mostly consisting of "Gee whiz, folks, I'm so excited to have my own show." Even Mrs. Burton's daring décolletage failed to divert some of us from the famine of dialogue.

Davis, the singer, dancer and impressionist, was impressive but Davis, the host, was a bore. It was pleasant to have three of the old "Honeymooners" gang back together again on CBS Saturday night. Trixie, the fourth member, was alleged to be visiting her mother in New Jersey. But Alice, Ed and Ralph Kramden were back in that basic Brooklyn flat.

But once there, they couldn't seem to decide whether they were doing a comedy sketch or a musical. The songs were draped on the comedy sketch like ornaments on a Christmas tree. Thus the plot would roar along with Ralph constantly threatening to land one on Alice or Ed. Then there would be a pause and one or another would walk up to the camera and sing a little song.

The free-wheeling story about adopting a baby may bring some fiery complaints from adoption agencies and Jackie certainly overplayed his big emotional scene, weeping over the bassinet. Even so it was fun to have Art Carney, Audrey Meadows and Gleason yelling at each other. Some of the slight tunes were catchy, if hardly memorable.

According to NBC's special Sunday night, "The World of the Teen-ager" is a prison where life is dull, adults don't understand them, and the pressures are fierce.

The documentary was made in Lexington, Mass., concentrating on a few of the community's 4,130 teen-agers — apparently the sulky-looking ones ready to complain about their restraints and disciplines.

The boredom of the young made the program a thoroughly depressing hour and one that shed little light.

First Steps to Stock Profits:

Yield Shows Market's Opinion
Of a Stock's Growth Prospects

By ROLAND GOODMAN
Moody's Investors Service
Distributed by
NEA Special Services

The yield on any investment is the income it provides, expressed as a percentage of its price. If a bank pays 4 per cent interest, that is another way of saying that a savings account has a yield of 4 per cent. A $3 dividend on a $100 stock provides a 3 per cent yield, as does a $1.20 dividend on a $40 stock. Higher prices mean lower yields if dividends do not change.

The average level of yields on good stocks at any particular moment is one way of determining whether the market as a whole is priced cheaply or expensively. But the concept of cheapness and expensiveness can change.

Until a little more than a decade ago, an average yield of around 5 per cent was considered normal. But the increased demand for stocks, especially as protection against inflation, has altered that.

For several years an average yield of 4 per cent or less has seemed normal, and the experts haven't worried about prices being too high unless yields slip below 3 per cent.

But these are averages, and many stocks have yields well below or above average. In general, these variations express investors' evaluations of each stock's potentials for growth. That is, a below-average yield is acceptable if the stock's earnings (and thus its dividend and price) are expected to go up rapidly. An above-average yield represents an expectation of slow growth. Usually, when the yield is very high—up toward 8 per cent to 10 per cent—the market is predicting that the dividend will be reduced.

Incidentally, security analysts speak of a stock's indicated dividend. They are referring to the amount of dividends payable in a year at the current rate. If the regular dividend is 40 cents quarterly, and a 40-cent extra was paid at year-end, the indicated rate is $2.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Airlines, electronics and coppers were among gainers in an irregularly rising stock market early this afternoon.

The market advance was having tough going because traders were taking profits with the averages at the peak of a string of new highs made last week.

Aerospace defense stocks also were firm to higher as Viet Nam fighting continued on a fairly large scale.

Gold-mining issues had a rally following publication of a report that about a billion dollars worth of newly mined gold was absorbed by private hoarding or speculation in the first three-quarters last year.

Steels put on a wavering performance and motors were thoroughly scrambled. Rails were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon were up .9 at 365.0 with industrials up 1.1, rails up .8 and utilities up .3. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .67 at 986.80.

Exchange Closing Early

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange announced today that it will continue to close at 2 p.m. EST, instead of 3:30 p.m., because of the transit strike.

It closed early last Thursday and Friday.

Today, over 50 million acres of land—about 86 per cent of the entire acreage owned by paper companies and independent woodland owners—are open to the general public, reports the American Paper Institute. Plus nearly 40,000 miles of streams for fishing and 750,000 acres of lakes for boating and swimming.

Sunny weather will bring out the girls in the cool outfit in light blue modeled by Danielle Touchette, 21, of Montreal, center. Sonia Sammier, 26, also of Montreal, wears the same outfit with suit jacket. The beret is blue, navy and white.

Miss Purvis, who was in the northbound lane.

Doctors' and Fatum's ambulances were rushed to the scene. Local fire companies were called out to standby in case of fire. Ambulance attendants said they had to pry open the doors of the Westchester county car to remove the four occupants.

Local Resident Fair

The five persons involved in the mishap were taken to hospitals here. The Bedford residents were pronounced dead. Miss Purvis was admitted in fair condition.

The four bodies were later identified by the college student, who was returned to Kingston from Delhi by State Police. Also assisting in the identification was another student, Alexander Kushmar, of 191 Purchase Street, Rye.

Ignace Pietroski died of internal hemorrhages and a crushed chest. His wife died of a crushed chest. She also suffered internal hemorrhages. Henry Pietroski died of a broken neck. He also sustained a fractured left leg and other injuries. His wife, Teresa, died of internal hemorrhages and a crushed chest.

Two 15-year-old seminarians, studying to become Roman Catholic priests, drowned Sunday while ice-skating as the New York State weekend accidental death toll reached 20.

They were Dennis Rodino of Secaucus, N.J., and James Roy Mack Trucks of Akron, Ohio, who had been skating on the Old Chemung Canal, north of Montour Falls in Western New York.

They had been sophomores at St. John's Atonement Seminary of the Franciscan order.

In addition, during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, 13 persons died in traffic accidents and five others in other types of mishaps.

Other deaths, by community:

Brainbridge — Anthony Delella, 73, and his wife, Rose, 68, in their house, which was flattened and burned by a derailed freight train.

Remsen — Raymond W. Stacy, 18, of Brantingham, in head-on auto crash on snowy Route 12, north of here.

New York — Rachel Eigler, 50, of the Bronx, struck by auto while crossing intersection.

Saturday
Troy — Douglas W. Hoffman, of Cohoes, in auto-truck collision on snow-covered Route 7, east of here.

New York — John Kardiasenos, 77, of Astoria, struck by car while crossing street near his home.

New York — Naomi Schechter, 40, of Brooklyn, two-car collision on Interboro Parkway.

Utica — Palmedore W. Desimone, 15, of Utica, shot while hunting with two companions.

Brockport — Miles Green, 34, of Fancher, car overturned in a field beside Route 31A.

Sunday
Corning — Larry M. Porter, 19, of Burdett, auto and truck collision on Route 15.

Valley Cottage — Norma Zanjungli, 35, and her daughter, Vicki, 11, of Valley Cottage, two-car collision on Highway 303.

Buffalo — Jaroslaw Czekota, 41, of Buffalo, asphyxiated by gas fumes in his apartment.

Mount Kisco — Julius Molnar, age unavailable, of Pound Ridge, fell from a horse.

Ex-Canners Head Dies
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Laurence Meulendyke, 85, of Rochester, a past president of the New York State Canners and Freezers Association, died Sunday at his home. He was former president of the W. N. Clark Co., a Holcomb canning concern.

Meulendyke lived at 80 Westminster Road.

Jaycees Report
Successful Yule
Toy Project

The Kingston Jaycees have reported that the recent Christmas toy collection was highly successful. Approximately 1,500 toys were received for distribution to needy children through the Salvation Army.

Six local Mobil stations cooperated in the project by serving as collection points.

The Jaycees have expressed thanks to all those who contributed toys or helped in any way with the project.

$134-Million

boost to $675 would cost $84 million over a full year and $42 million in the next budget.

The advantage of pegging it permanently to the statewide average is that the Legislature would not have to act each year as the cost of educating children rose.

The Democrats' fiscal aides are to report on the revenue outlook before party leaders take a final position on the issue.

Brydges Would Back Rocky
Meanwhile, the Senate's Republican majority leader, Earl W. Brydges, indicated he would support the plan being considered by the governor.

"That's as far as we can go," Brydges told the Associated Press.

At the same time, Brydges moved in another direction to help meet the problem of rising school costs at the local level.

He invited the mayors of the state's six largest cities to a conference at the Capitol today to discuss, among other things, the possibility of giving them greater independence in managing their fiscal affairs.

Proposals have been made for removing limitations on their taxing and borrowing powers and authorizing local school boards to raise the funds they need — through local taxes — to run their schools.

Big City Mayors Invited
The mayors of New York, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Yonkers and Albany were invited to the meeting.

It appeared unlikely that New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay would be able to attend because of the transit strike.

Proposals have been made for combining the city transit system with the more profitable operations of the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority or for having the new Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority take over the system.

Both steps would require state legislation.

Travia reported Sunday that the 1965 Legislature, under Democratic control, had shaved its spending to $11,054,669 — $607,821 below the 1964 level.

"I wish I could promise to save another five per cent this year, but it looks exceedingly doubtful," he said.

Travia pointed out that his party would have little say over spending by the Republican - ruled Senate this year and that additional costs would be incurred by the reapportionment plan that added 15 assemblymen and seven senators to the 1965 Legislature.

Congress Opens

his message Wednesday Johnson will forecast what turn the Viet Nam war is expected to take.

It is generally assumed in Congress that the pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets will continue at least through Jan. 24. This would represent a 30-day lull coinciding with the end of any Vietnamese New Year cease-fire which might occur.

Then Johnson would face the hard decision on whether to step up hostilities if the Communists have given no sign that they are willing to start peace talks.

Viet Overshadows All

While Congress has an array of left-over issues pending and Johnson may suggest a limited number of new proposals, all are overshadowed by the Viet Nam situation.

If, as anticipated, the President asks for an addition $12 billion or $13 billion in war appropriations, there will be bipartisan demands for a cutback in anti-poverty, Appalachian aid and other programs.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen has called for lower expenditures on the space program if Viet Nam costs skyrocket.

SUCCESSFUL
INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor & Analyst
Inflation Protection Is Advised for Investor

Q "I am in my 80s, alone with no family. I have a savings account of $15,000 and other means. My sole stock is 240 American Telephone. At my age, I do not want growth and am not worried about inflation. Would you advise selling 100 American Telephone and placing proceeds in a Federal Savings and Loan?" — A. E.

A) It is always a pleasure to help someone in your situation. American Telephone is an excellent investment for 3 1/2 per cent income and steady growth. The proposed prolonged rate investigation by the FCC has placed a damper on the stock which may remain for some time. Even at your age — which seems contradicted by your vigorous handwriting — I believe in some protection against inflation, which further escalation in Viet Nam may render inevitable. More fixed income savings cannot give you this.

Unless you need the added income, I would diversify by selling 100 American Telephone and putting the proceeds into Corn Products, a strong and growing food company which offers three per cent return and a good hedge against dollar devaluation.

Q "I've been slow about doing anything with some money in a savings account, totaling $4,000. You sometimes mention municipal bonds. Should I buy these? I have no knowledge of stocks and no confidence in them." — J. W.

A) If you will pardon my saying so, your money should not be invested in municipals if it represents your total cash assets, as appears likely. A savings reserve is essential before embarking on any investment program, and yours seems to be no more than adequate. Municipals are generally very strong securities, but their price includes a premium for Federal tax exemption which you don't seem to need. Municipals are also subject to fluctuation in price according to money rates.

If you wish to invest, why not buy savings bonds, now yielding 3 1/2 per cent to maturity, a rate which I feel may be raised. These cannot fluctuate.

In Rosendale
During 1965

The Town of Rosendale Constabulary made 104 arrests in 1965, the first year of its operation, according to an announcement today by Chief Constable Harold Bowers.

Chief Bowers said that the constabulary worked 1,406 hours; investigated 23 accidents and the same number of burglaries; received 968 telephone calls; covered a total road mileage of 15,092 miles and made a total of 909 entries in the village police "blotter."

Bowers said that the constabulary also handled 63 village calls; listed school attendance at 11, and realized a total of $370 in revenue received by the Town Board from fines after deduction for the State's share.

Constable Bowers emphasized that the constabulary, as it is now constituted, has been in existence only 11 months and the radio car and control center have only been in operation since June. However, he stressed, public reaction to the police service has been encouraging, and the constabulary "will continue to enforce town, county and State laws for the protection and improvement of all town property and the living conditions of its citizens."

union President, Michael J. Quill who was sent to jail for contempt of court but hospitalized two hours after being locked up.

No Meaningful Offer
MacMahon said the Transit Authority had made "no meaningful offer," and that the mayor sat in on some of these meetings but he didn't seem to prove a help.

MacMahon said Lindsay had mentioned a $50-million figure that would cover all Transit Authority supervisory and union employees and "everyone else. MacMahon rejected it, saying he was bargaining only for hourly paid transit workers."

Previously, the authority had offered a $29-million package, and the unions scaled-down demands stood at $216 million.

The recess ended a bargaining session that started Sunday morning at the Hotel Americana and moved to City Hall late in the afternoon.

Thus, the strike continued with these elements:

—Low temperatures piled added misery upon tens of thousands of commuters forced to walk the windswept bridges into Manhattan.

—Traffic experts invoked new emergency rules to speed the flow of nearly 800,000 cars, a street-choking mess.

—The Transport Workers Union called for a mass picketing demonstration at City Hall.

—Shopkeepers in crisis surged on small-business loan centers authorized by President Johnson.

—Leaders in Harlem and other poverty areas organized car pools to transport workers unable to pay cab fares.

—The Transit Authority resumed its court effort to collect $322,000 a day in damages from the union.

In an extraordinary move, Lindsay moved the negotiations late Sunday afternoon from their midtown hotel suite to City Hall. He stressed that the move did not mean that the immediate settlement was in the mind.

Tennessee, last state to break away from the Union in 1861, was first to be readmitted after the Civil War ended.

Senate Approval Is Expected for Wild Rivers Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to give prompt approval to a wild rivers bill, scheduled as the first piece of legislation to be called up in the session opening today. However, an uncertain fate awaits the proposal in the House. The House Interior Committee, to which the Senate bill would be referred, has ignored a companion measure since last May and has no plans for an early hearing on either bill. The Senate bill would preserve in their natural state 688 miles of five rivers flowing through some of the nation's wildest areas, with bans against dam construction or other activities that would mar the wilderness look.

Nucleus of the proposed wild rivers system would be formed by portions of the Salmon and Clearwater Middle Fork rivers in Idaho, the Rogue in Oregon, the Rio Grande in New Mexico and the Eleven Point in Missouri.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing ability with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Come in and take on a tiger!

The only way we could make a Catalina look even better would be to show you its price tag.

That's assuming your first glance up there tells you everything the most popular Pontiac of all has going for it. Because stretching back for nearly 18 feet behind that dashing front end is everything from a big 389-cubic inch V-8 to one of the roomiest trunks in the field. With an interior in between that's chock-full of nylon carpets, lush fabrics, chromed hardware and hiproom. Carried over, let's not forget, a set of Wide-Track wheels to make the ride of its long 121-inch wheelbase even smoother. That, and a great deal more, is our Catalina. All part of a plot to get you to come running in breathlessly for the keys. And a peek at that price sticker we mentioned.

Special safety note: All 1966 Pontiacs include dual-speed windshield wipers, windshield washers, outside rear-view mirror, padded dash and sunvisors, back-up lights and seat belts front and rear. (Be sure you and your riders buckle up before driving.)

BPW Will Celebrate Its First Birthday Tuesday; State President Plans to Attend

The Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club, an affiliate of the National Federation of BPW Clubs, will be one year old tomorrow.

In honor of the occasion, the local BPW will have a birthday dinner at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

On hand for the occasion will be Miss Lucille Kinne, president of the New York State Federation of BPW Clubs. With her will be Mrs. Carolyn Delemater, state treasurer; Mrs. Ellen Goebble, director of District III, and Miss Grace Gustafson, membership chairman for the Albany Business and Professional Women's Club which sponsored the local organization.

The BPW is the largest all-inclusive group of business and professional women in the world. It is non-partisan, non-sectarian, non-profit, self-supporting and self-governing.

To date the membership includes approximately 175,000 working women in more than 3,500 clubs throughout the nation's 50 states, Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

The primary aim of the BPW is to afford thousands of members ample opportunity for significant community action through group study, discussion, and exchange of information.

It also provides a means for endorsing and initiating beneficial legislation at local, state, national and international levels.

Film on Narcotics
One of the highlights of Tuesday night's dinner-meeting will be the presentation of a film in narcotics by the BPW Committee on Narcotics to Chief Robert Murphy of the Kingston Police Department, and Lt. Lemuel Howard. The local BPW purchased the film in order that it may help present to the public a constructive educational approach of the subject.

After meeting with local, state and Federal officials, the BPW Committee on Narcotics, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Dorothy A. Narel, announced that its prime function will be one of education. As a direct result of the committee's work, many organizations in the Ulster County area have conducted programs of their own on the subject.

Use of the film throughout the county will conclude one phase of the BPW's work on narcotics. Future programs will be announced.

Serving on the BPW Committee on Narcotics are: Charlotte McGraw, Reta Fredericks, Eleanor Wuest, Anne Berk, Dorothy Hayes and Beverly Reese, president of the Local BPW Club.

Flat-Chested Look Says Norman Norell In New York Show

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—All types of women have been fashionably provided for by the American designers during spring previews here.

Milliner Lilly Dache epitomized the subject in the previews third day Friday with hats that topped them all: checkerboard — square brimmed hats for the girl who likes to play games; tiger print turbans and throat — clutching scarves; floral concoctions for the sweet innocents; exotic golden brown wrap-arounds for mystics; and precious baby caps for the young at heart.

Angelic is the word that Count Fernandez Sami had for women. Moreover, he gave them wings in a series of bird-like chiffon floaters dresses that took the place of last season's swan's belly-trimmed gowns. It was announced that the Department of Interior had encouraged Sami to use more chiffon, less swan.

Earlier, Mollie Parnis, a diminutive gracious lady who has been the couturiere for former First Lady Mamie Eisenhower, indicated that there are a surprising number of wealthy women today.

One after another, glittering girls in short, jeweled sheaths lighted up the runway in the kind of up-to-$1,000 costumes that not a few but hundreds snatch up as if they were piled in a department store bargain basement.

Throughout the show, Miss Parnis stuck to the conclusion that most women want conservative style but with a custom look.

Busy, figure-conscious women were the ones Kimberly designers had in mind as this traditional knitwear house reproduced today's most popular designs in early packable machine-knit garments that do not cup, bag, or sag.

Norman Norell demonstrated how he, the king of American couturiers, believes the American female should look this year. She should be flat-chested, and long-waisted. Her blouse, of crepe with a dash at the neck, should be without darts, sleeveless and worn over a knife-pleated skirt, or wide legged pants.

Patricia Wieland, Dr. Robert O. Mooney Exchange Marriage Vows In New Jersey

Miss Patricia Julia Wieland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jacobus Wieland of Vineyard, N.J., were married Saturday, Jan. 8, 1966 to Dr. Robert Oliver Mooney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Michael Mooney of Kingston.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick J. Frawley performed the ceremony and celebrated the nuptial Mass in the Roman Catholic Church of St. John the Martyr. A reception was held at The Stanhope.

The bride was attired in a full-length, candlewood brocade gown with matching coat. Her headpiece was a rose of peau de sole with a three tier fingertip veil. She carried a cascade of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Mary Doris was the maid of honor. The best man was Ralph Votapek, and ushers were Dominic Rabbottini, Joseph Mooney, and Winston DuBois.

The bride is a graduate of Bryant College and also attended the Marnes College of Music. She is an editorial researcher with Newsweek Magazine.

Doctor Mooney, an alumnus of Bard College and Georgetown University School of Medicine, was a fellowship in internal medicine at the Lahey Clinic in Boston and had a fellowship in cardiopulmonary disease studies at St. Luke's Hospital. Doctor Mooney is with Pan American Airways and is also on the staff of St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City.

Dr. and Mrs. Mooney will reside in New York upon their return from a skiing holiday in Quebec, Canada.

Y., is among 124 students of the University of Wisconsin who will be honored for their outstanding work in their studies at the University's second full-fledged mid-year commencement being held in the Wisconsin Field House on Saturday, Jan. 22, at 3:45 p. m.

Panel Will Discuss Academic Art Training

A debate on the topic "Is Academic Art Training Old Fashioned?" has been arranged for Monday, Jan. 17 at 8:30 p. m. in Wenig's Restaurant in Napanoch by the Rondout Valley Art Guild.

Serving on the panel will be Dr. Peter Bohan, director of the Art Gallery and Professor of Art History at State University College, New Paltz; Dr. Ben Bishop, Assistant Professor of Painting and Drawing, State University College, New Paltz; and Bogamir Bogdanovic, painter and member of the Allied Artists of America. Dr. Bohan, a former Fulbright Scholar, was Assistant Curator of the Yale University Art Gallery and took his doctorate in the History of Art at Yale. He has won numerous fellowships and is a member of the College Art Association, the Society of Architectural Historians, and the American Association of Museums.

Dr. Bishop, who has studied at numerous universities and holds fine arts degrees from Nebraska and California universities, has taught in such colleges as Vassar and Missouri in addition to a number of art schools. He has been represented in many exhibitions in America's leading cities and has had several one-man shows.

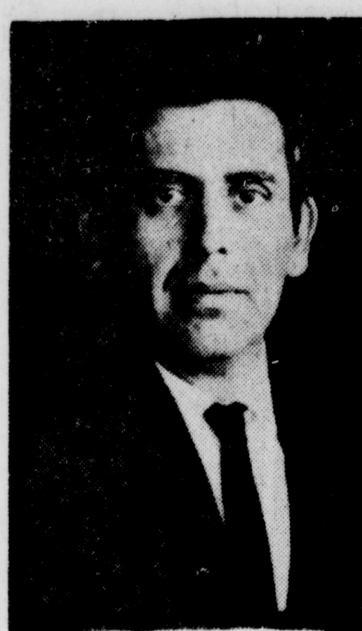

Mr. Bogdanovic, who was born in Yugoslavia, is a naturalized U.S. citizen and resides in Warwick, N.Y. He has exhibited in Yugoslavia, Germany and in many museums and galleries in this country. His works are private collections, including that of President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Listed in "Who's Who", he has also won 14 different awards, including the Dana Water Color Medal in 1963, an award which was won in previous years by such luminaries as Reginald Marsh, Andrew Wyeth, Charles Burchfield, and Charles Demuth. Mr. Bogdanovic also operates an art school.

Moderator will be Gary Siamon.

Rotary Awaiting Visit by Carlos

Coach John Smith of Saugerties Central Schools physical education department was guest speaker at last week's meeting of Rotary Club of Saugerties. Members heard Smith give his philosophy of basketball coaching; expound on what makes a losing team or a winning team. The visit had been arranged by program chairman Ben Rinaldi; was well received and followed by an interesting discussion and question period.

At induction services conducted by Morris Rosenblum, Paul Sturtevant formally became a member of the club. During induction, Rosenblum explained the significance of Rotary.

A report by Terry Staples on the arrival of the club's foreign exchange student, Carlos Lore de Mola, was one of the highlights of the meeting. Carlos, who arrived from Lima, Peru, on Dec. 28 to spend three months at the Staples' home in Malden-on-Hudson, will be introduced to the Rotary Club on Jan. 25.

The 14-year-old South American youth is already enrolled as a member of the junior class at Saugerties High School and is excelling in such subjects as chemistry and physics. A product of a private Catholic school in Lima, where he has been studying since he was four years old, Carlos speaks excellent English. His home was actually in Mira Flores, a suburb of Lima, and he will be returning there at the end of March.

Carlos, the oldest of six children, is fitting in perfectly with the Staples', who have four children of their own.

In the attendance contest currently being conducted by Rotary, president Ralph Lachmann was pressed into service as a member of the Oddballs team, to replace Henry Sagazie, who has been granted a leave of absence by the Board of Directors.

Program chairman Ben Rinaldi has announced that Ulster County District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca will be guest speaker at the next meeting of the club. Torraca is expected to enlighten the membership on the tools of gang warfare.

League to Debate Chinese Question

League of Women Voters of Saugerties will conduct their own vote on the question of whether Red China should be admitted to the United Nations at a general meeting Wednesday, Jan. 12, at 8 p. m.

With Mrs. Robert Emery, UN chairman, leading the discussion on the topic of the evening, members will vote on Red China's admission before hearing a debate on the subject. Following pro arguments by Mrs. Leon Morrier and con arguments by Miss Jane Ziegler, and a follow-up by chairman Emery, the membership will vote a second time to see if any opinions were swayed by the debate.

Members expect a lively discussion on this always controversial topic and arguments will probably run the gamut, from whether Red China's admission would ruin the UN, to whether it is in the interest of peace to grant the country admission to the world organization regardless of political philosophy.

Following the UN debate and vote, a brief summary on Foreign Economic Policy will be given by Mrs. Richard Messina. In her resume of the 1965 FEP picture, she will comment on the U. S. stand on lawful trade with Communist countries. She also is expected to touch on possibilities relating to balance of payments, and progress on international monetary reforms.

The Women Voters meeting is open to the public and anyone desiring transportation may contact Mrs. Terrence Martin.

Coin Clinic Set Regularly Here

Saugerties Savings Bank was the scene of a recent meeting of the Mid-Hudson Numismatic Club. The social rooms of the institution were crowded with a large attendance of members and several guests.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a talk on South African coins by Charles Hall. He described several types of coins and told how a collector may obtain these South African monies, which are becoming very popular with collectors everywhere.

Another meeting of the club is scheduled in Saugerties Thursday, Feb. 3. The program will feature Earl Sherwood, who will speak on 18th century tokens.

The club has voted to hold a coin clinic at each of its Saugerties meetings. At these special clinics, anyone may bring in coins for appraisal or identification, and information will be given on what coins a new collector would be wise to acquire. The Saugerties clinics will also offer an opportunity for members to swap or sell any coins which they bring with them. A specific time will be set aside for this exchange of coins.

The club also announces an auction, conducted by Robert Sandt of Woodstock, to be held at the meeting in the Hotel Stuyvesant, Kingston, Thursday, Jan. 20.

Glasco Rod, Gun Club Schedules Banquet Jan. 22

The annual banquet of Glasco Rod and Gun Club will be held Saturday, Jan. 22 at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties.

Arrangements for the annual event were outlined at the Thursday night meeting of the sportsmen's group.

Sal Mauro, club vice-president was named banquet committee chairman.

Ticket reservations may be made at Rudy's Restaurant, Glasco; Frank's TV, Partition Street, Saugerties, or Spadas Sport Shop, Broadway, Kingston.

Jaycees Schedule Bowling Tourney

Saugerties Jaycees have announced their second annual bowling tournament. Last year's event proved so successful that the tourney will take up four dates on the calendar this season. Competition is slated for Jan. 29, 30 and Feb. 5 and 6 at the Barclay Bowl, Simmons Plaza, Saugerties.

Both scratch and handicap prizes will be offered with separate divisions for men and women in team events only. The prize fund has been increased by several dollars for each team entered.

Jaycees officers said this week that handicap will be 80 p. r. cent based on scratch 200, as sanctioned by WBC and ABC. Prize fund returned will be 100 per cent, and prize ratio is one for 10 entries.

Entry forms may be obtained now at any local bowling establishment. Further information on entry forms may be obtained by contacting Robert Martin, 17 Town Road, Mt. Marion.

Iovino Listed 'Fair'

The condition of Nicholas Iovino, 30, of Churchland Lane, Saugerties, was reported as changed from "critical" to "fair" at Albany Medical Center this morning. The local man was the victim of a gunshot wound in the abdomen, allegedly inflicted by another Saugerties man, Frederick Haas, 20, of Route 4.

Iovino, who underwent surgery at Kingston Hospital following the shooting incident near the Barclay Heights Mobile Service Station on Dec. 22, was later transferred by ambulance to Albany. He had been on the critical list at both Kingston and Albany until today.

Haas, who stands charged with first degree assault for the shooting, last week had his case adjourned until Jan. 19. At that time, he will come before Justice of the Peace Robert Ferrigan. It is charged that Iovino was shot with a .30 calibre army rifle by Haas, after Haas's sister reported noises outside her bedroom window. The alleged assailant is under $500 bail at this writing.

SEATING WEDDING GUESTS AT THE CHURCH

It is the duty of the ushers to show all guests to their places. An usher offers his right arm to each lady as she arrives, whether he knows her personally or not. If the vestibule is very crowded and several ladies are together, he sometimes gives his arm to the oldest and asks the others to follow, but only when the crowd is great and the time short. Customarily, he asks them to wait until he can come back or another usher is available.

The usher does not offer his arm to a man unless he is quite old and it is obvious that he may need assistance. If the older man is accompanied by a younger, the latter is asked to follow so that he can seat them together.

If the usher thinks a guest belongs in front of the ribbon, though she fails to present her card, he always asks, "Have you a few card?" If she has, he then shows her to her place. If she has none, he asks whether she prefers to sit on the bride's side or the groom's and gives her the best seat vacant in the unreserved part of the church. Unless he is acquainted with the guests, he always asks whether they wish to be seated on the side of the groom or the bride.

Ushers are not supposed to escort guests in total silence, even when they are strangers. A few casual remarks are made—perhaps about the weather or the decorations—in a low voice, but not whispered or solemn. The deportment of the ushers should be natural, but dignified and quiet for they are in church. They not trot up and down the aisles in a bustling manner; yet they must be fairly swift and efficient, as everyone must be seated as expeditiously as possible.

The guests without reserved cards should arrive early in order to find good places. Members of the families and the few guests who have places in front of the ribbon may come later. How and when to introduce people seems to puzzle many. The Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Introductions," gives helpful information on this subject. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of this newspaper.

SANDRA ROCKHILL AS SLEEPING BEAUTY—A pretty Boston University co-ed with apples in her cheeks was awakened in modern storybook style recently as Miss Sleeping Beauty of 1966, as a feature of the first annual apple "teach-in" held in East Boston. At a breakfast gathering of several hundred food editors, fruit growers and their wives, Sandra Rockhill, a Boston University junior and resident of Kingston, re-enacted the role of Sleeping Beauty. The event symbolized the first awakening of the Bay State's own celebrated "sleeping beauties." — McIntosh apples scientifically put to sleep last September. Beginning today Macs in harvest-fresh condition will be available until next summer. Miss Rockhill was chosen for her role by the annual meeting of the New England Fruit Growers Association.

Rudolf Serkin Will Give Concert Here; Board Meeting Set

The Ulster County Council of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society will meet Thursday, Jan. 13 at 8:30 at the home of Amos Newcombe, Manor Lake, Kingston.

Entertaining the board before the business meeting will be Lydia Newcombe on the French horn accompanied by Deborah Stanford at the piano. They will play a movement from a Mozart Concerto.

The business of the evening will concern plans for the second concert of the HVP season, Friday, Jan. 28, featuring Rudolf Serkin and an all Beethoven program. It will be one of Mr. Serkin's few appearances this year following closely his highly acclaimed December performance in Carnegie Hall.

Requests for tickets to this single concert are already being made. The Board urges those holding season tickets, who will be unable to attend the Serkin concert to call Mrs. Amos Newcombe of Kingston or Dr. Richard Messina of Saugerties so that others may be seated.

Palmer Starts Right, Wins 11G Los Angeles

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — There's no better way to start a new year than by winning, especially if you've been losing.

Arnold Palmer was the author of this sentiment today, and he brought the point into sharp focus by starting 1966 off with first place — and $11,000 — in the 40th Annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer headed for the Palm Springs desert country today for some television golf work, and most of his fellow pros took off for the next event on the new winter schedule, the $45,250 San Diego Open coming up this weekend.

Palmer won the Los Angeles fixture for the second time, but it wasn't as easy as most everyone had figured in Sunday's final round at the Rancho Municipal course — par 36-55-71.

He shot a two-over par 73 and won by three strokes with a 72-hole total of 273.

A 62 Saturday
Palmer's sensational 62 Saturday sent him into the final round with a lead of seven strokes over Bill Casper Jr., and nine shots over two rivals who, it developed, gave him a large scare, Paul Harey and Miller Barber.

It was still Palmer by six after the first nine holes, but Harey particularly was closing in and Arnie's army, and possibly Arnie himself, were worried.

At the 14th Palmer's lead had melted to one over Harey and two over Miller.

Miller, from San Antonio, Tex., finished ahead of Palmer and Harey, somewhat unnoticed in the scramble.

But as matters turned out, Barber's 67 matched that of Harey, and they tied for second at 276.

Palmer was asked if he preferred to be ahead or come from behind. In regard to the latter, Palmer laughed and said:

"If that was the case in the final round, I'd never have made it."

Then he added:
"It's a pleasure to start the new year better. When you don't win for awhile, it starts to cause problems."

This was only Palmer's second tournament victory in some 18 months.

The surprise of the tournament was 24-year-old Dave Stockton of San Bernardino, Calif., who shot rounds of 71-69-69-68 for 277. He played the final round with Palmer and another veteran, Don January, in this, his second year as a professional.

Albany Is Winner
Albany defeated Southern Connecticut, 91-87; Roberts Wesleyan ripped Toronto, 111-86; Hobart squeezed past Alfred, 54 - 52; Plattsburgh beat Rochester Tech, 82-70; Waterloo of Ontario got by St. John Fishers, 64 - 58; and Genesee topped Oswego, 61-56.

Bing's 31 points gave him individual scoring honors, while Albany's Mike Crocco came in second with 30. Crocco's last basket, less than a minute from the final horn, climaxed an uphill struggle for the New Yorkers, who posted their fifth win.

Hamilton, with a win over RPI, now stands 6-0 for the season, while Potsdam, 7-1 overall, notched its fifth win in a row in beating Queens.

Youngstown ended a nine-game winning streak in losing to Niagara.

Both the Celtics and the Royals were idle Sunday after winning Saturday, Boston by 124-96 over San Francisco and Cincinnati by 126-115 over Baltimore.

In Sunday's action, all afternoon games, Philadelphia defeated St. Louis 127-117, as Angeles downed Detroit 111-98 and Baltimore edged New York 130-124.

In other Saturday games, St. Louis upended Philadelphia 115-105 and New York beat Los Angeles 133-127.

Third Tour Title For Arthur Ashe
PERTH, Australia (AP) — U.S. Davis Cupper Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., won his third title on the Australian tennis circuit Sunday by defeating fellow American Cliff Richey for the West Australian championship.

Ashe, who earlier had beaten Australian Roy Emerson for the Queensland and South Australian crowns, took Richey, of Dallas, Tex., 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

Hot 2nd Half Insures Team 9th Straight Win

Ulster Community's crack basketball team took some time to work the holiday kinks out Saturday at Elting Gymnasium in New Paltz.

Once they started to find the range, coach Mike Perry's unbeaten cagers made it nine straight with an 88-61 drubbing of the State U. frosh quintet.

Ulster led, 39-26, at halftime and simply rolled away from the home side in the second half.

The big three of the Senators — Paul Buytkins, George Drutman and Brad Meyer — combined for 66 points, including 29 in the second half. Buytkins was especially effective after the intermission, accounting for 18 of his 27 points.

Coch Perry reported that Clarence McIntosh, who was thought to have quit school and the team last week, was out sick and returned to his classes. He saw some action in Saturday's game.

Ulster returns home on Friday with an 8 p. m. engagement against Adirondack.

Tackle Shop, Armstrong's Win

Foster's, Hub Suffer Losses In Rec Openers

Ray's Tackle Shop and Armstrong's Eagles, figured to be the top contenders for the Rec Basketball league title, opened the circuit with impressive wins Sunday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

The Tackle Shop walloped Foster's Coach House of Rhinebeck, 74-55, in the opening game and then Armstrong's defeated Hub Delicatessen, 83-64.

Jumpin' Joe Uhl scored 11 points in the opening quarter and turned paymaster the rest of the way as he paced the Tackle Shop triumph. Bob (Bundles) Bondar did his usual excellent job of coming off the bench.

Sam Brown hit for 29 points to lead the Armstrong victory. The winners pulled away in the second period against Hub, which had only five players.

Action continues next Sunday with Armstrong's opposing Ray's in the 7:15 opener and Lincoln Park Inn meeting Mannie's Barber Shop at 8:15.

Missed Free Throw Attempts Decide Contests

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Though they put forth their finest effort of the season, the luckless Hawks of State University failed in some key situations at the foul line and lost an overtime cliffhanger, 71-68, to visiting Buffalo State Saturday at Elting Gymnasium.

The visitors are top heavy favorites to win the State Conference championship, but they almost blew this one to the home side, which was aided by Joe Faccioli's first start of the season and by a partisan afternoon crowd, which rocked the rafters from start to finish.

Coch Doug Sheppard, in an effort to neutralize the speed of the upstarts, threw the Hawks into a tight zone and had his club working for the good shot while always keeping a couple of men back on defense. It slowed the game to almost a walk but kept the Hawks in contention all the way.

New Paltz led by as many as six points in the first half but went behind just before the intermission and left the court trailing by a point, 28-27.

Seis Rebound Mark
Faccioli, who missed the first five games while recovering from a broken jaw, played with a face guard and broke the school rebounding mark with 29 seconds left in the half. His 54st topped Mike Kellett's record.

The senior star was forced to the bench with 17:45 remaining in the game as he picked up his fourth personal foul. New Paltz led, 33-31, but remained in front most of the way.

Paul Thompson of the upstarts knotted the count at 48-48 with a layup at the 8:30 mark. With five minutes remaining, the teams were embraced in a 54-54 tie and the pressure was beginning to mount.

Faccioli, now back in the lineup, tapped in a rebound to send the Hawks in front. Charles Mancuso, the backcourt star of Buffalo State, made one of two free throws and then Frank Passante, playing his first game of the year, connected for New Paltz. The home side led, 58-55, with 3:30 to play.

Norbie Moch sliced the edge to 58-56 by making a free throw. The Hawks then moved the ball near the midcourt line, looking for a shot. Ty Sands was fouled with 1:46 to play and he blew the one and one situation, the first key miss in this barn burner.

and the Hawks had a four point lead, 60-56, with time running out. Dave Saunders retaliated with a pair of charity tosses for the Orangemen but they still trailed and the Hawks had possession of the ball.

Within 30 seconds, both Sands and Ted Rufus stepped to the line with opportunities to put the game in the deep freeze. Both missed their foul shots and when Mancuso knotted the game at 60-60 with 19 seconds left, it set the stage for overtime. Sands' final shot of regulation play rimmed the basket as the clock ran out.

Sands, the former Monticello star, made two foul shots with 4:13 remaining in the five minute overtime. Tom Kenney then blew out a one and one situation and then Al Kozen knotted the score once again with a tap.

Thompson and Faccioli exchanged duces before Kenney took passes from Sands and Faccioli to connect from underneath, putting the home side ahead, 66-64, with 1:45 left. Mancuso hooked one in from the left side to account for the final deadlock of the see-saw contest.

Last Time In Front
Sands made both of his foul shots with 1:06 left to give New Paltz a 68-66 lead. It was the last time the Hawks were in front. Faccioli missed a free throw with 58 seconds to play and then was tagged with his fifth personal foul at the 50-second mark.

Kozen made one of his tosses. On the second, Thompson came up with the rebound and stuffed it back in and the Orangemen had a 69-68 lead with 23 seconds to play. Mancuso was fouled with 11 seconds left and he calmly made both of them.

It was a tough setback for the Hawks and for Sheppard, who masterminded the near upset. He moved players in and out of the lineup as if he were playing chess. However, he couldn't shoot the foul shots for them.

The Hawks got from the frying pan into the fire this week. They host Central Connecticut State, a small college powerhouse, on Tuesday at 8:45.

Gains 186 Points With Fine Jumps Of 130, 131 Feet

Rosendale Nordic Ski Club

scored its first major victory Saturday, when Bob Roderick led the Class B field in the 21st annual Torgler Tokle Memorial ski jumping tournament at Bear Mountain.

Roderick turned in two fine efforts of 130 and 131 feet for 186. He topped Egil Evensen of the host club by four points.

Meanwhile, Pete Langlois, the Nordic's best jumper, competed in the 11th annual Masters International Ski Jump at Lake Placid.

The event was won by Norway's Bjorn Wirkola. Langlois, who had not been on skis until the meet, jumped over 200 feet twice but failed to finish in the first ten.

Wirkola, a member of the Norwegian national team outdistanced 34 competitors as he soared 248 and 225 feet in two jumps and scored 248.8 points.

Italian Is Second

In a close fight for second place, Italy's Giacomo Aimoni had to settle for a tie with John Balfanz of Minneapolis, a member of the 1964 U.S. Olympic team.

Each scored 214.9 points. Aimoni had jumps of 239 and 221 feet, and Balfanz jumps of 238 and 222 feet.

The longest jump of the day was recorded by Dave Hicks of the University of Duluth. Hicks sailed 251 feet on his first attempt on the 70-meter jump. He fell on landing, however, and finished 11th in scoring.

Other top finishers, with their two jumps and points:

4. Paavo Maunu, Finland; 234, 229-214.

5. Erkki Pukka, Finland; 220, 208-206.6.

6. J. Martin, United States; 240, 212-206.4.

7. Per Coucheron, Norway; 230, 203-204.1.

8. Dave Norby, United States; 239, 207-201.

9. Roger Dion, United States; 235, 199-197.7.

10. Peter Mueller, Austria; 223, 194-193.2.

Steve White of Rosendale also made the trip to Lake Placid but did not participate in the Masters, since he does not have A rating.

Meet Curtailed

Roderick scored his Bear Mountain triumph under rigorous conditions. The frigid, blustery weather caused meet officials to curtail the program.

Bernie Dion, New Hampshire barber, won Class A honors with leaps of 139 and 132 feet for 189.1 points. Runnerup Dave Petelinz of Newburgh soared 130 and 138 feet to trail Dion by 2.2 points.

Dean Schambach, a New York photographer, who had the two longest leaps of the day—154 and 145 feet—placed third, because he spilled in his first effort.

Only five Class A performers turned out, taking the edge off the event in which the late Torgler Tokle leaped 180 feet to establish the hill record 25 years ago.

In the veterans division, Dr. Philip Dunham of Battleboro, Vt. easily beat Bruce Falk, Long Island. The flying dentist leaped 129 and 137 feet to score 187.8 points and top Falk by two.

Sixteen-year-old Art Tokle Jr. was first in the junior event with a trip of 121 feet. The class was limited because of the wind direction.

UCC Keglers Clinch Third

Ulster Community College Keglers clinched third place in the Metropolitan Community College league by managing to win a point from Queensborough in the final match of the season on Saturday.

The locals will seek a third straight Region XV championship this Saturday when they face more than 20 other colleges at Mardi-Bo Lanes in Poughkeepsie.

Pat Manfro walloped 215, 227 and 212 for 654 against Queensborough. The locals clinched third place by winning the second game, 842-803.

Len Schmitt, who averaged 185, was named to the all-star team. Coach Al DiBernardo was elected president of the league for the 1966-67 season.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME

by MURRAY

Six years ago the clubs of the National Football League, acting singly, had television contracts totalling $1.2 million. That's when Pete Rozelle became commissioner of the National Football League. Now, with the package deal he instituted, they'll make $18.8 million a year for the next two years, with CBS exercising an option for a third if it can stand the cost per minute . . .

"I think it's a better contract for CBS than the last one," says Dick Balpe, boss man of Sports Network, the independent outfit which figured in Rozelle's auxiliary plan if CBS didn't bite for the big chunk . . .

That's because CBS now goes into all the major markets on every Sunday, plus a bundle of additional games like the afternoon-evening Thanksgiving bill. Why didn't Rozelle push for a longer term deal, since who knows what the economy will be in a couple of years? Because fellows like Bailey suspect the aggressive commissioner has pay-TV in the back of his mind and doesn't want to be tied down . . .

Only one case of sour grapes from Green Bay after the NFL title game. After Jimmy Taylor was awarded the car by SPORT as the game's top performer, Paul Hornung (who could easily have received it himself) grouched, "Them not picking Bart Starr is ridiculous." . . .

When Vince Lombardi credited the older Packers for convincing Texas Tech's Donny Anderson he ought to sign with Green Bay, he

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials for commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employees in certain large retail, service, construction and other enterprises engaged in producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. This Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less than legal minimum wages or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Broadway, Room N. Y. 10452, Wyandotte 2-1235.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Labor Law prohibits discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended to place any restriction or discrimination based on sex.

Deal With Cong: Reds

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet trouble-shooter Alexander N. Shelepin has called on the United States to agree to deal with the Viet Cong to end the war in Viet Nam.
Shelepin, now heading a Soviet mission to Hanoi, told a rally there Sunday that "now is the time for the U. S. to realize it is impossible to settle the Viet Nam question without the participation of the South Viet Nam National Liberation Front—the authentic representative of the South Vietnamese people."

Science Talk Set At Katrine P-TA

Lake Katrine P-TA will hold a meeting Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. in the school auditorium.
The program for this meeting is science instruction in the elementary schools. The guest speaker will be Allan J. McCormack, instructor from the State University College of Education, New Paltz.
McCormack held an in-service science workshop last summer for over fifty teachers of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated District. He was enthusiastically received and has been invited back this semester to work with another group of teachers.
The program will be one of participation rather than a typical lecture type presentation. It is felt that the public will find the speaker entertaining as well as knowledgeable in his field.
During the business meeting, the year's budget will be presented and an explanation given as to how the club's money is used. All parents are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Bourgault Elected Havg President

Arthur T. Bourgault has been elected president of Havg Industries, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Hercules Powder Company, it was announced today by Henry A. Thouron, president of Hercules. Bourgault succeeds Dr. John H. Lux, who has resigned to accept the presidency of Ametek, Inc. of New York City. Dr. Lux also resigned as a member of the board of directors of Hercules.
Bourgault, formerly vice-president and general manager of the Taunton Division of Havg at Taunton, Mass., is a graduate of Becker Business College, Worcester.
He joined the plastics department of General Electric Company in 1933 as a supervisor of cost and accounting at Pittsfield, Mass. While at Pittsfield he also held positions as manufacturing analyst and manager of the Alkyd Resin plant.
In February, 1955, he was appointed manager of the Taunton plant, a position he held for four years. In April, 1959, Bourgault was made assistant general manager of the Taunton Division of Havg, and in 1960 he was named vice-president and general manager of that division.

to the demands were made public prior to the Christmas holiday.
"Their president spoke of a six-point plan, three steps of which were named. The other three were kept in secret as a veiled threat to the Board of Education. At the January meeting the Board rejected the federation's union demands with a unanimous vote.
"I certainly would feel the board would be remiss if it didn't take some preparatory steps to insure the operation of the schools in the light of all possible eventualities. Rumors of a strike, if they be just rumors, should have small concern on the part of the federation as to the board's plans to deal with a possible strike. The federation statement released today most certainly shows great concern."

Reapportionment

sion of the City of Kingston. Plaintiff Davis and Mrs. Johnson, both of whom have worked unceasingly in the study of reapportionment from a local angle, believe, along with Thayer, that this action must be taken at this time in order to protect the constitutional rights of the people of Kingston and Ulster County.
They point out that, according to the population figures, 21.72 per cent of the population of Ulster, as determined from the 1965 Federal census, may elect a majority of the Board of Supervisors. In addition, the trio says, although some legislation may be favored by 78.28 per cent of the population county-wide, this same legislation can be defeated by the vote of only 17 supervisors, who represent a minority.

See 1-Side Basis
For purposes of comparison and to emphasize the basic reasons for their legal action, Davis and Thayer listed several examples of what they view as one-sided apportionment here. A vote cast in the Town of Denning, with a population of only 215 people, they said, would equal better than 63 votes cast in the Town of Saugerties, which boasts a population of 13,608. Such an imbalance in population and apportionment, the plaintiffs contend, is "not equal." When the Board of Supervisors can legislate taxes which must be paid by all citizens, its members are actually guilty of "taxation without representation," say those who have instituted the suit.
Davis, Thayer and Mrs. Johnson also point out that a similar situation exists in the City of Kingston, where 31.42 per cent of the population may elect a working majority of the Common Council. This can only mean, they say, that legislation favored by 68.58 per cent of the population can be defeated by the aldermen representing a minority of the city's residents.

Cite Two Wards
Taking two local wards as examples to prove their point, they compared the 12th Ward with the 13th Ward. Only 588 people live in the 13th Ward, as compared with 4,808 in the 12th; yet a vote cast in the 13th Ward is equal to better than eight votes cast in the 12th Ward. Such a situation, the plaintiffs argue, is far from compliance with the one-man, one vote principle established as law by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Thayer, a consistent critic of the Board of Supervisors, is vice-president and general manager of WGHQ, Kingston. Davis serves as president of Kingston Knitting Mills and was chairman of the Charter Revision Commission appointed some years ago by then Kingston mayor, John J. Schwenk. Davis and his committee, on which Mrs. Johnson served as co-chairman, designed a new city charter which was defeated more than two years ago.
Bell to Handle Litigation
The Kingston firm of St. John, Ronder and Bell will represent the plaintiffs in the action against the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and the Common Council of the City of Kingston. Attorney H. Clark Bell will handle the litigation in the case.
Their action, say the plaintiffs and their counsel, reach far beyond the legal ramifications involved. They feel they speak for many people here who feel, as they do, that both the City of Kingston and Ulster County have great potential for the future. In order to reach that potential, they say, drastic reforms are needed in legislative and governmental matters, with emphasis on cooperation between business and government. The vital need, they feel, is reapportionment of the two local legislative bodies, they feel, can lead only to progress by attracting new industry to settle here. By waging their fight, they hope to pave the way for such future services as better roads, education medical facilities and improved living conditions for Ulster County's thousands.

Window 'Dressed' For Dimes March
Woodstock's New March of Dimes Campaign shifted into high gear this week. Utilizing the display window in Bonnie's Store on Mill Hill Road, the committee in charge began publicizing the National Fundation for which it works.
The window, as dressed by Penny Earnest, gives an impression of happy expectation turned to tragedy. It uses as its theme the statistical fact that one out of every 16 babies born in America has some type of birth defect.
Mrs. Earnest's shocking approach to the problem attracted much public reaction this week. The window is poignant proof that help is needed, but its harsh impact is softened by the message of hope which is the new March of Dimes Against Birth Defects.
Jean Gaede, chairman of the New March of Dimes in Woodstock, urged all residents to check the window this week. Donations to the cause may be forwarded to her. Mrs. Gaede also had high praise for the success of the recent Ten Project for the Dimes Drive. She said the efforts and enthusiasm of youngsters in the town had helped realize a tidy sum of money to fight poliomyelitis and other diseases.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Foul Play Cited In Oath Picture

A photograph of newly elected Town of Woodstock officials taking the oath of office, which appeared in this column last week, drew enraged reaction from at least three sources today.
Commenting that the photograph, as well as the picture caption and the accompanying story, ignored part of the official Woodstock "family," one man pointed out that two officials were missing from the pose. He called them the same two who had been lauded by outgoing supervisor Abram F. Molyneux for doing a "fine job" just prior to a recent November election in campaign propaganda. He also charged that, despite the testimonial, the two had been completely ignored when raises were "handed out" in this year's budget.
The Freeman photographer showed Councilman Mervin Doremus, Justice of the Peace Milton Hout, Town Clerk Marjorie Harder, Superintendent of Highways William Klementis and Supervisor William West Jr. being sworn in by Justice of the Peace Rudolph Baumgarten. Councilman Gottlob Wagner was missing due to his absence from the year-end meeting.
The missing men referred to were assessors Fred Freitag and Frank Tackella, who had been by-passed for raises, when most town officials, including Birge Simmons, third assessor, received across the line pay elevations this year.
Said another resident, "Your story ignores the fact that these two men have given loyal service to the people of Woodstock and have done their job as well as the third man."

Further etched-in-acid comment from a third party charged new Supervisor William West Jr. with following in the footsteps of his predecessor by not inviting the assessors to pose for the photograph. He questioned whether West's failure to notify the assessors was intentional or not.
When contacted for comment on the charges, Supervisor West said the absence of the assessors from the photograph was anything but intentional. "Historically, the assessors have never been involved in the year-end board session," he said. "We have never done it that way and it never occurred to us to change procedure. . . . Normally, only the three incoming Board members are on hand, and we never know when the press will be present to take photos."

Republic Club Sets Election of Officers

The Woodstock Republican Club will hold its first meeting of the new year Monday, Jan. 17 at 8 p. m. in Deanie's Restaurant.
Main purpose of this initial meeting will be the election of new officers for 1966. H. Clark Bell currently serves as president of the club, and Edward N. Goddard is first vice president.
All interested Republicans are urged to attend next week's meeting.
Life's goal of every Buddhist is Nirvana—a condition or state of mind of complete peace and love.

JAYCEE WEEK PROCLAIMED—Ralph Perry, external vice-president of Woodstock Jaycees, left, and Darrell Means, Jaycee internal vice-president, watch as Supervisor William West Jr. of Woodstock signs a proclamation designating the week of Jan. 16-22 as "Jaycee Week" in Woodstock. Jaycee activities here during the week will be highlighted by the annual "Bosses Night" banquet. At that time, a distinguished service award will be given to an outstanding citizen of the Woodstock area.

Morocco Awaits Peace Corps Vol

A former Woodstock resident and employee of the National Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties, has been named a Peace Corps Volunteer, Miss Virginia L. Roessler, who left her job and Village Green Apartments home here three months ago to join the Peace Corps, has completed 12 weeks of training at the University of Texas. New Volunteers in her group are now on home leave prior to departure for Morocco this month.

During the leave period, Miss Roessler is visiting friends here in Woodstock and Palenville, her former home.
Upon her arrival shortly in Morocco, she and other volunteers will work in hospital, sanatorium and public health laboratories throughout that country. They will perform lab tests, help to train Moroccan assistants and conduct routine surveys of public water supplies, milk products and canned food. Volunteers in this project will join other public health volunteers who have already been working in Morocco for a year.

During training, the one-time Woodstock resident studied French and Arabic, the two chief languages of Morocco. She also took instruction in laboratory procedures, and worked in hospitals and sanatorium labs near the training site in Texas. Courses in the history and culture of Morocco, United States history, world affairs, health and physical conditioning rounded out the training program she underwent.

With the arrival of Miss Roessler and others in her group, some 15 Peace Corps Volunteers will be in that North Africa country. Besides public health, the volunteers are working in women's community centers and teaching in secondary schools.

The capable and competent Miss Roessler said this week that her unit of departing volunteers will join the 10,000 other Peace Corps volunteers now working in 46 nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America. She pointed out, however, that despite these numbers, many more volunteers are needed. Persons interested in starting a two-year Peace Corps assignment this winter, she said, should complete and submit a Peace Corps application as soon as possible and take the Corps placement test. She said all information can be obtained at local post offices or by writing Peace Corps, Washington, D. C., 20525.

Nuccio Is Held in $100,000 Bail; Suspected as Payoff

A 55-year-old Highland man, arrested at Newburgh Friday on a federal warrant charging him with conspiring to smuggle heroin into the country, was held in $100,000 bail Saturday after arraignment in Poughkeepsie before U.S. Commissioner John B. Garrity.
He was booked as John S. Nuccio of Highland and 265 Elizabeth Street, Manhattan.
Arrested with Nuccio by U.S. Customs agents and Newburgh BCI officers of the state police was Frank Falanga, 52, of Marlboro, who was charged with harboring a fugitive from justice. Falanga was released in $2,000 bail by Commissioner Garrity.
Nuccio is suspected of being the pay-off man in an international $11-million heroin smuggling syndicate, authorities said. The Highland man, authorities said, has a record dating back to the prohibition days, and reports are that the federal authorities say Nuccio is the man who tells where the heroin shipments from France, Sicily and other European ports are to be dropped in the New York City area, then pays off the couriers, who in turn carry the money back to foreign suppliers of the dope.

Investigation of the heroin case started with the arrest of George Henry Pierre, steward aboard an Air France jet, a year ago at Kennedy International Airport. He had in his possession a false-bottomed valise containing $1-million in heroin, authorities said.
Federal agents said Pierre admitted working with Simone Christman, Air France stewardess arrested in 1961 for smuggling dope into this country in her bra. Last month two men and a woman were seized in a dope crackdown in Nassau, East Harlem and New Jersey.

Rust Hits

sary to house large numbers of students there.
"More than these details, however, a second unusual action has convinced us that the board is planning for a strike that has not been called, instead of seeking reasonable grounds for negotiations. This action is the complete secrecy which has shrouded that statement sent by special messengers to each board member the afternoon of Dec. 21. The statement was drawn up by Superintendent of Schools Dr. Wendell Hoover, and was read aloud that same night to the board and to assembled representatives of both KTA and KTF. Why has the board kept this statement from the public? To our knowledge, the only publicity given to it was by the KTF, both through its newsletters and at its last regular meeting. Since this statement by the superintendent represented an attempt to compromise this issue, and since it has not been released by the board, we all may wonder how interested the board is in compromise.
"A copy of the Superintendent's statement has been in our hands since the night of December 21, and we have waited for the board to release it to the public. If it is not released by the board tomorrow, we shall release it in its entirety ourselves, and explain why we were willing to discuss it as a basis for a compromise."

Driver Is Sought
Ellenville State Police today were looking for a car and driver which was involved in a hit-and-run accident on Route 209, Town of Wawarsing at about 12:45 a.m. Sunday. Troopers said Leroy Hoatson, 32, of Suffolk, N.J., was driving along the highway and a car going in the opposite direction sideswiped his vehicle and continued on without stopping.

or other donations may leave them at the Vly-Atwood firehouse, Merritt said. The origin of the fire was not immediately determined.
It was reported the Carney family are staying with relatives, and a new trailer is expected to be delivered within a week, according to the fire chief.

Higher Deficit

playes' pay for 1965 amounting to $30,000 will have to be taken care of this year out of various department budgets.
The mayor said he was not attempting "to be political" in any way dealing with revision of the budget, but was doing only what he felt must be done.
The budget, as presented by former Mayor John J. Schwenk at the public hearing last Dec. 30, fixes the tax rate at $68.30 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This was two cents less than that in 1965. The amount to be raised by taxation in 1966 was fixed at $2,792,648.21.
